SOUTH OF MONASTIR SERBIANS AND THEIR ALLIES HAMMERING THE BULGARIAN FORCES BACK

Positions at Kajamackalan Taken; Serbian Troops Have Crossed Brod River; Many Prisoners, Four Field Guns and Eight Machine Guns Captured; Station at Florina Taken by French Troops

London, Sept. 18.—A further advance by Serbian forces at the western end of the entente front in Greek Macedonia is reported in a dispatch sent out to-day under a Salonica date by the Exchange Telegraph Company. It says the first and second line trenches of the Bulgarians at Kajamackalan have been taken by Serbian troops and that Serbian forces have crossed the Brod river. Heavy fighting continues on the other bank of the river.

The Serbians are reported to have taken four field guns and eight machine guns, bringing up to 36 the number of guns captured. A large number of prisoners also is said to have fallen into the hands of the Serbians.

The dispatch also reports that French troops have captured the station at Florina. Heavy fighting continues.

Paris, Sept. 18.—In a statement issued yesterday afternoon the war office announced that French and Russian troops, advancing rapidly at the west end of the front in Greek Macedonia, had arrived in front of Florina, Greece, close to the Serbian border, south of Monastir, and that Serbian troops were advancing on both sides of Lake Ostrovo, having defeated the Bulgarians near Kajamackalan, and were continuing to throw troops across the river Brod, where the Bulgarians were resisting.

Kavala Bombarded.
Further progress by Italian forces in Albania was recorded and it was added that Kavala, Greece, was under bombardment by an entente fleet.

The statement said:
"On the Struma front British reconnoitring parties fought several successful engagements on the left bank of the river and made some prisoners."

"From the Beles mountains to the Vardar there has been further lively cannonading by both sides."

Across Brod.
"East of the Cerna, Serbian troops have reached the immediate outskirts of Vetenik and Kajamackalan after a series of obstinate engagements which all ended to their advantage. West of Lake Ostrovo Serbian troops continued to cross the river Brod. Their artillery opened a violent fire against the Bulgarian army entrenchments on the right bank of the Brod."

"Franco-Russian forces on the left wing, pursuing their rapid march, have arrived in front of Florina, close to the Serbian border and south of Monastir." Sofia has admitted the loss of Nidje Planina, near Lake Ostrovo.

END APPROACHING IN GERMAN E. AFRICA

British Forces Advancing Steadily; Two Remaining Ports Have Been Taken

London, Sept. 18.—A statement issued by the war office to-day regarding the operations in German East Africa says:

"The enemy has been dislodged from the Ulugur hills with the loss of many men, quantities of stores and most, if not all, of his artillery and gun ammunition depots, which constantly are being discovered and destroyed."

"On Friday British forces which had fought their way since Aug. 23 through and to the east and west of the central mountainous area, effected a junction near Kissa, at the southern end of the hills, the remnants of the enemy's troops having retired to the southeast."

"West of the Ulugur hills, Lieut.-Col. Vanderventer's columns are approaching the great Ruaha river on the road to Mahenge, driving a strong enemy detachment southward before them."

"Lindi and Mikindani, the last remaining ports in the German colony, have been occupied by naval forces, royal marines and African troops. Small German forces retired inland in each case."

CZAR'S FORCES NOW ARE CLOSING IN ON TOWN OF HALICZ; WAR OFFICE AT BERLIN ADMITS THEY MADE A GAIN

Russians Dislodged Enemy From Positions on Right Bank of Zlota Lipa, Capturing 551 Prisoners; in Region of Podvyske-Halicz Railway Russians Took More Than 3,100 Germans

Petrograd, Sept. 18.—Russian troops have resumed their closing-in movement on the Galician town of Halicz. The war office announced last night that the Germans had been dislodged from positions south of Brzezany and on the right bank of the Zlota Lips, north-east of Halicz, and that Russian forces were attacking along the Podvyske-Halicz railway line, where more than 3,000 Germans were taken prisoner and twenty machine guns captured.

The text of the statement follows:
"Western front.—In the region south of Brzezany and on the right bank of the Zlota Lips stubborn fighting is taking place. Our troops, having dislodged the enemy, captured part of his positions and took prisoner 14 officers and 537 Turkish men. In the region of the river Anaravka and the railway line from Podvyske to Halicz fighting continues. The enemy there already has suffered great losses in killed and wounded, and left in our hands about 3,174 prisoners. The prisoners are exclusively German and include 34 officers. We also captured 20 machine guns and two trench guns."

"Our Crimean cavalry attacked two enemy batteries, and having sabred the attendant gunners, threw three guns into a ditch and captured four limbers. The latter, however, they did not succeed in carrying away, as an approaching German battalion opened a fierce machine gun and rifle fire on our cavalry."

"In the wooded Carpathians snow fell in some places and water was frozen."

"The Russian forces suffered extremely heavy losses, particularly in assaults near Zaturza, west of Vladimir-Volynski (Volhynia), which failed completely. Attacks between the Sereth and the Strypa, north of Zborov, also broke down and a Russian attempt to advance north of Stanislaw was frustrated."

BRITAIN REPLIES TO AMERICAN PROTEST

Answer Regarding Censoring of Mails is on Way to Washington

Washington, Sept. 18.—Great Britain's reply to the American note protesting against seizure and censorship of neutral mails is on its way to Washington, and is understood to be largely a repetition of the arguments in justification of policy of the allies contained in a preliminary memorandum received here last February. The protest of the United States, made on May 24, declared that "only a radical change in the present British and French policy, restoring to the United States its full rights as a neutral power, will satisfy this government."

At the British embassy to-day it was stated that the allies desired to lighten the censorship as much as possible, and that it was with this end in view that the series of conferences to be held in New York this week between leading American exporters and Sir Richard Crawford, trade adviser of the emperor, Louis Roufosse, minister of foreign affairs, Alexander Carapanos, minister of justice, M. Vokotopulos, minister of public instruction, M. Kanaris, minister of communications, Lyssander Kaffandjoglou, minister of national economy, M. Bassis.

War Spirit Grows.

Athens, Sept. 18.—The first boatload of Greek soldiers from Kavala reached here to-day. The men marched through the streets cheering King Constantine and crying "Down With the Bulgarians."

The demand for war is growing rapidly among the people. Even the anti-Venezelos press plans an active pro-war campaign which will be opened to-morrow.

RUSSIANS FRUSTRATED AN ATTEMPT BY TURKS PETROGRAD ANNOUNCES

Petrograd, Sept. 18.—Attempts by Turkish troops to make an attack in the region of the village of Adisa, on the Caucasian front, were frustrated by our fire, says an official announcement issued here to-day.

"On the western front (Russia and Galicia), there were no events of importance."

POSITIONS OVER FOUR MILES IN LENGTH ON SOMME FRONT WERE WRESTED FROM GERMANS

TURKS DEFEATED EAST OF SUEZ

Anzacs and Camel Corps Surprised Enemy 65 Miles From Canal

GERMAN OFFICERS FLED; FIRED UPON

London, Sept. 18.—Defeat of the Turks in a minor engagement on the Sinai Peninsula, 65 miles east of Suez Canal, was announced officially to-day as follows:

"A mobile column composed of Anzac mounted troops and a camel corps, with some artillery, left Bir-el-Abd on September 6 and reached an enemy position at Bir-el-Mazar, 55 miles from the canal, at dawn the following Sunday. A sharp engagement followed in which our troops penetrated the enemy trenches at several points and inflicted considerable casualties while our artillery heavily shelled the enemy camps."

"The attack appears to have been a surprise to the Turks, and our aircraft saw and fired on several parties of them, among whom were German officers riding rapidly back to El Arish. We took some prisoners. Our casualties were slight."

LOSS OF POSITIONS SOUTH OF THE SOMME ADMITTED BY BERLIN

Berlin, Sept. 18.—Abandonment by the Germans of the villages of Berny and Denicourt, together with positions between Barleux and Vermandovillers, south of the river Somme, is reported in to-day's official statement. North of the river, the statement says, the fighting developed favorably to the Germans.

"In the upper Degano valley, at Tagliamento, the artillery was very active. The enemy fired more than 2,000 rounds in the neighborhood of the Volp Pass alone, without any result."

"On the Isonzo front the artillery activity was especially lively in the Plesio area, where our infantry made several raids on enemy positions at Rombere, Javorcek, and Monte Nero."

"On the Carso plateau, after repulsing several night counter-attacks, our troops continued yesterday to press their attacks on part of the enemy lines. After an extremely violent artillery duel, our infantry stormed and captured further trenches on a wide front, taking about 800 prisoners, including 20 officers."

"Last night an enemy aeroplane squadron dropped twelve bombs on Mestre. No one was killed and the damage was slight. During an aerial engagement in the Caporetto basin an enemy aeroplane was brought down. One of the aviators was killed and the others were captured."

"The text of the official statement follows:
"In the fighting on Friday in the Sugana valley, between the Comba and Maora valleys, severe losses were inflicted on the enemy. After being driven back on the right bank of the Brenta, the enemy bombarded our positions with some violence on the left bank, east of Maso, and launched three successive attacks, which were all beaten off."

"In the Plume valley area our troops extended and consolidated the positions captured on Friday. During these operations, 32 additional prisoners, three machine guns, two trench mortars and a large number of rifles and a large quantity of ammunition were captured."

"In the upper Degano valley, at Tagliamento, the artillery was very active. The enemy fired more than 2,000 rounds in the neighborhood of the Volp Pass alone, without any result."

Ottawa, Sept. 18.—The officials of the department of finance state that if the subscriptions to the war loan this week equal those of last week the amount of $100,000,000 asked for will be more than subscribed. A gratifying feature has been the large number of small subscriptions received.

GERMAN AERODROMES IN BELGIUM RAIDED BY BRITISH AIRMEN

London, Sept. 18.—A raid by British naval aeroplanes on German aerodromes at St. Denis, near Brussels, and Westrethem is reported in an official statement issued to-day, the text of which follows:

"Yesterday afternoon a squadron of our naval aeroplanes carried out a further attack on enemy aerodromes at St. Denis and Westrethem. A large number of bombs were dropped with successful results. One of our machines was obliged to make a forced landing in Holland and the pilot has been interned."

SIR C. BOYLE DEAD.
London, Sept. 18.—Sir Cavendish Boyle, who was governor of Newfoundland from 1901 to 1904, died here yesterday.

Gen. Haig's Men Drove Forward in Courcellette Region; French Troops Took Vermandovillers and Berny and Ground Between; Village of Denicourt Surrounded; More Than 2,000 Prisoners

London, Sept. 18.—German positions exceeding four miles in length were captured on Saturday night and Sunday by the British and French armies north and south of the Somme, war materials and more than 2,000 prisoners being taken. The gains are being held.

The following official statement was issued here yesterday:

"South of the Ancre our troops, in the vicinity of Courcellette, extended their gains on a front of about 1,000 yards. Near Thiepval we obtained considerable success by capturing the hostile fortification known as the Danube trench, on a front of about a mile. There the enemy abandoned much equipment."

"We also captured the strongly defended work at Mouquet farm, possession of which had been hotly contested for some weeks past."

"The number of prisoners is increasing."

The following official statement was issued last night:

"South of the Ancre German troops made several heavy counter-attacks on our new positions, all of which were repulsed."

"Particularly strong enemy forces, attacking from the direction of Leboueffes and north of Fiers, were caught by our artillery barrage, suffering heavy casualties."

"Between Fiers and Martinpuich an enemy brigade advancing to attack in the region of High Wood, was met by two of our battalions in the open. Hand-to-hand fighting ensued, in which we were completely successful, the enemy being dispersed and thrown back with heavy losses."

"North of the Mouquet farm we also improved our positions. Our artillery was active during the day. Another conflagration in the enemy's ammunition depot at Grandcourt broke out as the result of our fire."

The number of prisoners taken to-day south of the Ancre is six officers and 243 men.

"Our air service successfully continued its attack on the enemy communications. Another enemy machine was destroyed. Three of our machines are missing."

Improved Positions.
The following official report was issued to-day:

"The general situation is unchanged. South of the Ancre we improved our position north of Martinpuich. East of Courcellette a minor attack made last night on elements of enemy trenches was entirely successful. Our lines have been advanced appreciably at that point."

"West of the Mouquet farm enemy troops entered one of our trenches under cover of heavy shelling, but were counter-attacked immediately and driven out with losses."

"South of Thiepval we have taken a further portion of the enemy trench system."

"The enemy heavily shelled various parts of our line at intervals during the night."

"The advance of the British forces apparently brings their front to within a mile of Grandcourt and the Albert-Bapaume railway. Grandcourt is being bombarded by the British."

Ground Held.
Paris, Sept. 18.—The Germans lost heavily in several counter-attacks south of the Somme last night, the war office announced this afternoon. The French maintained the ground recently won and made further progress near Clercy, north of the Somme, and Berny and on the eastern edge of Denicourt, south of the river."

The French took 1,200 prisoners and ten machine guns. The town of Denicourt is now completely encircled by the French troops.

Prisoners report that enormous losses have been sustained by some of the German formations. The statement says that two battalions were almost annihilated by the French artillery."

Further Gain.
The text of the statement follows:

"North of the river Somme we occupied a trench east of Clercy and repulsed counter-attacks of the enemy at that point."

"South of the river the enemy last night delivered several counter-attacks against our trenches located east of Berny and south of Denicourt. In the latter region German troops delivered no fewer than three violent attacks. Each one was repulsed with heavy losses for the enemy."

"East of Berny, as well as immediately east of Denicourt, we have made further progress. The latter point is completely encircled."

"The number of prisoners counted up to the present time has reached 1,200."

Enemy's Losses.

"According to information obtained from some of these prisoners, the losses inflicted during the fighting yesterday in the vicinity of Berny upon the 10th division of German reserves and upon the 120th reserve regiment were enormous. Two battalions of the 38th regiment, 11th division, were almost annihilated by our artillery."

"There has been nothing to report from the remainder of the front."

"Flight Adjutant Tarascon has brought down his fifth enemy machine. This aeroplane fell near Denicourt. The same day Flight Lieut. Huertaux brought down his seventh German aeroplane."

"French air squadrons have conducted various bombardments. Twelve shells were thrown down on the railroad station at Nantillois, and 33 missiles were thrown down at Villers-Carbonnel and Horgny, from an altitude of 800 yards, causing serious damage."

Great Gains.

The following official statement was issued last night:

"North of the Somme our artillery actively bombarded German organizations throughout the day."

"South of the Somme we attacked at 2.30 p. m. at several points, and gained important successes. The villages of Vermandovillers and Berny, of which we held only a part, were conquered in a brilliant assault. Some isolated points still are holding out."

"All the ground between Vermandovillers and Denicourt on the one side and between Denicourt and Berny on the other, which was defended by several strongly organized systems of trenches, has fallen into our hands after a desperate fight. The struggle still continues around Denicourt. Between Berny and Barleux we captured a number of trenches. All counter-attacks attempted by the enemy during the evening broke down under our artillery fire with heavy enemy losses."

"Up to the present, 700 un wounded prisoners, 15 of them officers, have been counted."

"There has been the usual cannonade on the rest of the front."

As a result of the advance of the French forces, the village of Denicourt now is completely surrounded."

Aerial Activities.
The following official report was issued yesterday afternoon:

"With the exception of fairly lively artillery duels in the sectors of Berny and Vermandovillers, south of the Somme, no important event is reported on the front."

"Yesterday an enemy aeroplane was brought down within our lines at Belloy, south of the Somme. It is confirmed also that an enemy machine, which was attacked by Warrant Officer Lennor, came crashing to the ground north of Douaumont, east of the Meuse, being the eighth to be brought down by this pilot. It also is confirmed that Warrant Officer Dorne defeated his tenth enemy machine, which fell near Thie on Sept. 13."

"On Friday night two of our machines dropped 15 bombs of 120 millimetres each on the airfield at Hestepelm. Last night 230 bombs were dropped on the railway station and aviation buildings at Tergnier and 33 bombs on the railway station at Abbeville. On the same night one of our bombing squadrons carried out the following operations: 72 bombs of 120 millimetres were dropped on the railway stations at Roisel, Ephy, and Athies, and on the railway line between St. Quentin and Ham."

ROUMANIANS USED GERMAN RY. CARS

Invasion of Transylvania Was Facilitated by Enemy Rolling Stock

London, Sept. 18.—A Daily News dispatch from Bucharest says the Roumanian invasion of Transylvania was greatly facilitated by the use of German railroad cars sent to Roumania for loads of grain, but which returned loaded with Roumanian soldiers instead.

"The fall of Turtukal in itself was not an incident of great importance," the correspondent writes, "but the defence of the place by a handful of troops against the heaviest odds in artillery and men constitutes a glorious page in the history of Roumania."

London, Sept. 18.—A dispatch to the Evening News from Amsterdam reports that the German guards along the Dutch frontier towards both Belgium and Germany have been withdrawn.

CANADIAN PATROLS AND SNIPERS BUSY

Training of Specialists Bearing Fruit; "Sniper Guns" Make Germans Uneasy

Ottawa, Sept. 18.—The following was received by the militia department yesterday from the Canadian representative in France:

"Canadian headquarters in France, via London, Sept. 16.—The ordinary activities of trench warfare, with which the Canadians now are so well acquainted, continued to occupy their attention during the past week. The steady training of specialists which has been proceeding for several months is bearing fruit. Our snipers showed skill and ingenuity and were able each day to claim a number of the enemy. Sniper Division, of a Winnipeg battalion, lay 25 yards in front of our trenches the whole of one day, and although the Germans made efforts to locate him, he was well concealed. He got three direct pierces and pierced several loopholes.

"At one part of the line held by a Montreal battalion, the Germans began a bombardment with heavy trench mortars and threw about 30 bombs, some of which exploded in our trenches. In retaliation our mortar batteries replied with 200 bombs of all sizes, and effectually silenced the enemy.

Sniper Guns. "A large earthwork which the Germans had constructed after laboring several weeks was completely demolished by the accurate shooting of one of our Canadian siege batteries, under command of Major Cape. The Canadian field artillery was very active in dispersing working parties and in night shooting on the enemy lines of communication. In each battery one gun is set apart as a "sniper gun," being ready to shoot at the slightest sign of movement in the enemy's lines. These sniper guns are a cause of great uneasiness to the Germans.

"As usual, defensive patrols were constantly in front of our trenches at night. Two encounters with the enemy took place.

In one case, Lieut. Matthews, with three scouts from an Edmonton battalion, surprised a party of five Germans who were hiding in a large shell crater. Lieut. Matthews threw two bombs among them, killing one German and mortally wounding another. He then jumped into the crater with a knoberry and had brained a third German when he himself was struck in the shoulder by a bayonet. Scout Vernon came to his assistance and shot the fourth German. At the same time, the remaining member of the hostile patrol fired a revolver point blank at Pte. Lindsay, wounding him in the head, and then attempted to escape. Lance Corporal Featherstone, haught ran after him and bayoneted him just as he reached the German wire.

Two Accounted For. Another instance: A patrol of ten men from a Montreal battalion, under command of Captain La Framboise, encountered in the dark a number of Germans. Each side at first mistook the other for friends. A hand-to-hand struggle then took place, resulting in the capture of one German and the killing of another. The rest of the enemy managed to escape.

Further south, a battalion from Regina, recently arrived in France, made a magnificent defence of a hotly contested locality.

Despite a heavy hostile bombardment, a company under Captain Cameron, clung to its positions and repelled two enemy attacks with rifle and machine gun fire.

CHALLENGE TO DUEL.

Athens, Sept. 18.—George Streit, King Constantine's most intimate counselor, who lately has been acting as the sovereign's personal agent in endeavors to form a cabinet, was challenged to a duel to-day by George Melas, formerly the king's private secretary. M. Melas, who lost his position on account of his sympathies for former Premier Venizelos, in an open letter to M. Streit, charges him with being responsible for the "disastrous results of the Germanophile policy in Greece."

M. Streit was foreign minister at the outbreak of the war.

600 SERB HEROES REMAIN IN CORFU

"Third Ban" Men, Too Old or Too Badly Hurt to Fight Again

Paris, Sept. 18.—A correspondent sends the following from the island of Corfu:

The Serbian army has long since gone from Corfu, but not all the Serbs. Besides those who rest for eternity in alien soil, on the sunlit slopes of the island of Vido, some 600 Serbs remain here. The war goes on without them. They are the "third ban" men, too old or too badly maimed ever to fight again.

Many of them are ill even now and the two hospital tents at Potamo under the supervision of Miss Emily Simmons, of New York, an English trained nurse sent out by the American Red Cross, are generally full. Out of the 600 "third ban" men in camp there are 115 in the hospital. The remainder are in charge of two English Quakers, acting for the British Serbian relief committee.

"Those who are well enough work at trivial tasks to fill their empty days—they who have been heroes. They carve canes of white olive wood or weave baskets to sell to tourists—anything to keep the fingers busy and dull the dreams of what is passing over there, behind the Albanian hills, in what was once Serbia.

"Save what has come to them from the American Red Cross or the British Serbian relief committee, they have nothing. They staggered through Albania, leaving by the roadside all their meagre possessions—even at the last their useless guns, for which there was no more ammunition. Here and there one or two have kept their torn and mud stained blankets. One, through all the vicissitudes of that hideous retreat, clung to a deep, long handled saucepan, a mountain heirloom of other ages.

Metamorphosis of Saucepan. And now the saucepan has come into its own. A miraculous metamorphosis is in progress. Over the oval bowl bends the gray head of what seems an old man. He is 56, but he looks 70. His two sons are dead, his brother and his brother's three sons, his sister's husband and her son—all are dead somewhere between the Danube and Adriatic, on the road from Kragevatz to Durazzo.

He alone remains—a "third ban" man, his fighting done, his family come to an end and of what was once his home only an antique saucepan. He is stringing a cord of twisted horsehair across the hollow bowl to the far end of the wooden handle. On the ground beside him lies an olive wand bent in the shape of an arc, its tips connected by another string of woven horsehair.

The old man's task is completed. Mumbling to himself, he picks up the saucepan and balances it on his knee. In his right hand the improvised bow sweeps across the solitary string with a tone vibrant and low. The fingers of his left hand grip the handle and, pressing the cord, vary the tone in a scale of half a dozen notes.

Gently the old man draws his bow, experimenting with his new made instrument. Around him gather the others in the tent. "A gusla! A gusla!" they cry, delighted, pressing closer. "Aye!" he replies, proudly fondling the transformed saucepan, "a gusla!" And in half voice he begins to sing, accompanying the words with the few primitive notes of his saucepan gusla. At first it is the chant, five centuries old, of the fugitive Serbs after their defeat on the plains of Kosovo—the chant that is called "The Bloody Night."

Beloved, my beloved! Will it end at last, this tragic night At whose dawn you must go to battle?

THE OLD MAN'S NARRATIVE.

But there have been so many bloody nights since then, so much that is now added to the ancient legend. The old man abandons the song centuries old and raising his voice, he begins the narrative of another defeat, a more recent and more poignant trial of the soul of Serbia.

"Heroes, do you remember," he begins, monotonously; and step by step he traces across the mountains of Albania the blood stained pathway of retreat. He names each pass, each bridge, each brook and height. He recalls the names of those who died fighting and of those who fell of hunger and exhaustion by the way. And those who listen, as the narrative pro-

RIOT IN BRUNSWICK

Rumor Potato Peelings Would Be Used as Food Stirred Germans

London, Sept. 18.—A Reuter dispatch from Copenhagen says:

"German newspapers report a trial at which 16 men and women were sentenced variously to from five to twelve months in prison on charges of rioting and looting at Brunswick last May. The evidence revealed a complete reign of terror in the town lasting several days, until martial law was proclaimed and troops suppressed the disorder.

"The origin of the disturbance seems to have been a proclamation enjoining the utmost frugality and a consequent rumor that potato peelings would be used for food. This idea aroused the people to the highest fury."

MAJ. TAIT, VANCOUVER, WOUNDED IN ENGLAND

Vancouver, Sept. 18.—Information was received in the city last night to the effect that Major John S. Tait, of the 29th Battalion, was wounded and is at Salisbury, where he is doing well. His wound was received from an exploding bomb which burned him badly, according to advices, but there were no further particulars.

Treatment of British civilian prisoners is not confined to Germany; a prisoner was left in a Devonshire police court dock until the magistrate had viewed a passing airship.

"VICTORIA'S LEADING TAILORS"

Clothes for the Officer

In order to successfully withstand the excessive wear and tear of active service the clothes for officers appointed to overseas units must be of a quality second to none.

We, who are military tailors, appreciate this important point, and we would urge every subaltern to avoid the fatal tendency of endeavoring to obtain his kit at a money-saving price.

Our prices represent the minimum at which a high-grade kit can be obtained.

BRITISH PRAISING

LT.-COL. ELKINGTON

Cashiered From Army, He Won Back Honor in French
Foreign Legion

London, Sept. 18.—The whole country is ringing with the story of Lieut.-Col. John Elkington—one of the strangest romances of this strange world war. It is the ever appealing, human story of another man who "came back."

Dismissed by court martial—cashiered from the army he had served for nearly thirty years—just as his regiment was going into action in France in the closing months of 1914, this English officer, disgraced at a time of life when the chances of fate weighed heavily against a man fighting for suddenly lost honor, found refuge in that queerest of all military organizations, the French Foreign Legion.

Lost in Mares of battlefields, a mere legionnaire in the ranks, Lieut.-Col. Elkington, late of the Royal Warwickshire, was all but forgotten. None of his old friends, his old fellow officers, none of the men who had seen him win the queen's medal for valor in South Africa, none of those who knew that Elkington was out there "somewhere in France."

But now Elkington is back in England. Pinned on his breast are two of the coveted honors of France—the military medal and the military cross, but the most valued possession of all is a bit of paper which wipes out the errors of the past—a proclamation from the London Gazette which announces that the king has graciously approved of the reinstatement of John Ford Elkington in the rank of Lieutenant colonel, with his previous seniority, in consequence of his gallant conduct while serving in the ranks of the Foreign Legion of the French army.

Not only has Lieut.-Col. Elkington been restored to the army, but he has been reappointed to his old regiment.

SOLDIER WAS KILLED
NEAR CAMP HUGHES

Body of Pte. R. M. Davidson,
152nd Battalion, Found
Beside C. P. R. Track

Camp Hughes, Man., Sept. 13.—Mystery surrounds the death of Pte. R. M. Davidson, of the 152nd Battalion. His body was found early Saturday morning lying in a ditch beside the C. P. R. track two and a half miles west of Carberry. The injuries which caused death were caused by a train, but what train and how, and why he came to be there are unknown. No money was found in his clothes, in spite of the fact that a few hours earlier he was seen with $50 in his possession.

Pte. Davidson had no pass to be absent from the camp. The only relative, so far as is known, is a brother at Regina.

CABINET MAKING.

Mr. Brewster will have no difficulty forming a very strong cabinet, from which sound, progressive government may be expected. Indeed, among his supporters is material enough for several strong cabinets. They include successful business men, men prominent in professional life and others noted for their active promotion of the cause of labor. And this excellent distribution of character and ability is common to the representation throughout the province. For the most part the opposition put its best in the field, while the government forces comprised very largely men who had sat in the legislature for years and who by blindly endorsing every proposal their leaders had offered, no matter how wild or extravagant, were largely responsible for the conditions which brought about the revolt of the people.

A leader should form his cabinet with an eye solely to the efficient conduct of the country's business and not as a measure of political tactics. In British Columbia the practice in recent years seems to have been to fill cabinet positions with the men least qualified for them. This was particularly true of the McBride ministry following the resignation of Messrs. Tatlow and Fulton prior to the election of seven years ago. Had the standard of qualification for cabinet ministers with which the late government started thirteen years ago been maintained things might have taken a different course. The affairs of the country certainly would have been better administered and British Columbia would not have been a plunderer's paradise. The fact that the largest business in British Columbia is the government's business has been overlooked.

Sir Robert Borden similarly forgot when he was forming his cabinet that the biggest and most important business in Canada was the business of government. Instead of selecting the ablest and best men of his party on his own choice he allowed outside interests to do the choosing. Thus his ministry, with one or two striking exceptions, the most prominent of which is Sir Geo. Foster, was a combination of mediocrity with the "practical politics" of Rogersism and the treachery of Hughes. This of course indicated lack of resolution, determination and decision in the leader, a very serious shortcoming in one charged with the direction of the enormous business of a nation. The calibre of a chieftain may be determined by the kind of subordinates he chooses. No strong man will surround himself with incapables or unscrupulous schemers.

ROUMANIA SET-BACK.

The Roumanians have met with a sharp reverse in Dobruja through what seems to have been a faulty disposition of troops and the underestimation of the offensive power of the enemy. Instead of abandoning the southern section of Dobruja, particularly that part which Roumania took from Bulgaria three years ago with the loss of one mile, and retiring behind the Danube, the natural southern and southeastern military boundary of their country, the Roumanians endeavored to hold it. Von Mackensen with a relatively small force but heavily equipped with artillery struck into Dobruja at the angle formed by its boundary with the Danube, and by the capture of Turtukal, followed shortly afterwards by the occupation of Silistria, got well behind the Roumanian right flank, which he crumpled up, forcing the centre as well as the left which rested upon the Black Sea to beat a hasty retreat northward. Had the full Russian army been at hand the allies by striking southward from Dobruja into Bulgaria would have done to the Teuton-Bulgarian right wing precisely what the enemy did to theirs. Von Mackensen struck first and the fall of Turtukal was the initial important point in the trick.

Naturally the German press, both in Europe and America, is describing the victory as the "most decisive of the war," a "crushing blow for the allies" and similar nonsense, but any affair in this quarter could have only local importance to the allies unless it resulted in the forcing of the Danube and the capture of Bucharest. Bucharest, however, is not worrying over such a remote contingency. The campaign across the Transylvanian Alps and the Carpathians and in Serbia towards Belgrade, upon which three-fourths of the Roumanian army is engaged, is being pressed energetically, and both Berlin and Vienna continue to admit giving ground. In such circumstances the high-blown rhetoric with which the advance in Dobruja is being described in the enemy capitals is just what might be expected. The truth is that von Mackensen, by his threat in Dobruja, accompanied by the pretensions of his press agents, is trying to recall the Roumanians from Hungary and has signally failed to do so.

The Bulgarian capital to-day announces the arrival of fresh reinforcements for the Roumanians. These evidently are from the Roumanian reserve depots, which will be kept well-filled for some time to come, and units from Russia. It should be borne in mind that Roumania intervened before her own concentration or that of Russia on her frontier was complete in order that she might grab the passes in the mountains which separate her from her enemy on the north. The debate in the Hungarian diet, in which it was admitted that Roumania struck before the Teutons were ready, compelling them to evacuate a large part of Transylvania, shows that notwithstanding the setback in southern Dobruja, a district which for the time being can be spared to the enemy without embarrassment, the Roumanian course was well taken. Incidentally, the more troops von Mackensen employs against the Roumanians in Dobruja the better will be the situation of the allies in Macedonia. There the Serbians, who with the Russian detachment form the left wing, are pressing home their victory of a few days ago and are in the outskirts of Florina. Roumania, with more than half a million reserves rushing to the colors and with an equally large force of Russians being prepared for operations against Bulgaria, has nothing to fear from the Teuton-Bulgarian venture in Dobruja.

GREECE'S HUMILIATION.

Under Constantine's fostering hand Greece has been brought to the very nadir of humiliation. An entire army corps which had been concentrated in eastern Macedonia has been literally kidnapped by the Bulgars and sent to Germany, where those who compose it are being treated as prisoners of war. This would not have happened had the bulk of its officers been other than German sympathizers, and had its hands not been tied by the pro-German influences which radiated from the court. Moreover, with those troops was captured a large part, perhaps the greater part, of Greece's military equipment, for this undoubtedly was concentrated in the district won from Bulgaria after heavy sacrifice.

Greece's predicament is the direct consequence of her callous disregard of her treaty obligations to Serbia. The object of that treaty was the mutual protection of Macedonia against any attempt by Bulgaria to recover it. The king of Greece and his court, however, thought to profit from dishonor. They fondly anticipated that when Germany, with Bulgaria's assistance, had overrun Serbia they would share in the spoils as the reward of their neutrality. What will happen, of course, will be the very reverse. Serbia will regain Macedonia and annex Bosnia and Herzegovina. Italy will secure the greater part of Albania, and it is not certain that Bulgaria will not be left in possession of the district of which Kavala is the outlet. The present military problem of the allies does not call for any particular effort on their part in that direction. Judging by the present outlook, Greece, through no fault other than that of her own government, will emerge from the present situation smaller than she was when it first developed.

Constantine is still determined to have nothing to do with Venizelos. His latest choice for prime minister will probably not last more than a fortnight. The connection between Athens and Potsdam, though somewhat attenuated, is still maintained. Some day it will be severed altogether, but we shall be very much surprised if when that time comes the government of Athens is not curiously told that Greek aid is not required in this war. The time for Greece to have acted was when the voice of honor called her in the terms of her treaty with Serbia.

RUSSIA AND CANADA.

In the course of his remarks before the Vancouver Board of Trade on Saturday Lord Shaughnessy pointed out that Canada's commerce on the Pacific exceeded the facilities for handling it, notwithstanding the many millions that had been expended upon them, and predicted a substantial further increase in the near future. The Oriental traffic, which was divided among a number of lines in which the enemy had made a material inroad, could be largely diverted to Canadian channels, and he added that arrangements had been made with the Russian authorities that would ensure a big increase in the tonnage for Vladivostok which would pass through British Columbia ports.

The immediate cause of this increase of course is the war, but as the head of the great transportation company points out, it should continue after the conflict has ended. A very large proportion of Russia's enormous imports to-day is not mainly for war purposes. Much of it was ordered too late for use in this struggle. It is intended to supply the economic and industrial weaknesses the war has ruthlessly exposed. Through this conflict will come Russia's regeneration. It has opened the vast empire's eyes to its real strength. It has emphasized the need of organized development of its vast resources, which when properly taken in hand will enable the country to recover from the effects of the war more rapidly than any of the other belligerent powers. One authority declares that if Russia's resources were systematically developed the empire could shoulder the war debt of the whole of Europe without being embarrassed.

But that development, of course, must connote an enormous increase in Russia's foreign trade. She must be a heavy importer from abroad, a great market particularly for the manufactured products of other nations. Her present allies will have a strong sentimental advantage in respect of that market, and Canada as one of them occupies a very favorable position. But that advantage will be useless if it be not reinforced by persistent, systematic cultivation of the market. Sentiment and business make a poor mixture. Americans, whose government has done nothing to help Russia or Russia's cause, and which is now talking about an embargo on munitions, are going after that business and getting most of it. Canadian should do the same, and the government should expand its horizon sufficiently to help them. One half the population of the globe lies across the Pacific. What is Canada going to do about it?

The Colonist wisely advises Mr. Bowser not to stand upon the order of his going, but to resign without waiting for an announcement of the result of the soldiers' vote. Sage counsel, but it is doubtful if the defeated premier will accept it. Beyond question, a gracious acceptance of the popular decision would not lessen the status of Mr. Bowser.

The submarine which, amidst great excitement, has been observed off the Atlantic coast of the United States, is not the Bremen, but one of Uncle Sam's own underwater craft. As one of the Huns aptly puts the case, the fate of the Bremen still is in the lap of the gods. The Bremen may be clasped in the arms of Neptune, himself an ancient submariner.

The truth at last seems to have permeated the mind of the Vancouver News-Advertiser, which dolorously admits that the Bowser government is beaten. With all the ministers, with the possible exception of one, among the fallen, we wonder at the reluctance of our contemporary in making up its mind.

The big men of the C. P. R. usually have sound advice to distribute along with their irrepressible optimism when they visit the west. One of them advises the people of British Columbia to dig more and speculate less and prosperity will be our portion.

The Austrian foreign minister says he deceived Roumania into a trap. All the same, we are willing to wager a substantial amount that Ferdinand of Bulgaria would not mind changing his hole in the ground for the trap that grips Ferdinand of Roumania.

Germany's dream of conquest has been dissipated. The Hun chiefs always have told their own people that the war was a war of defence. When they say that now they are telling the truth, and soon the people of Germany will realize it.

After an unusually uncertain summer, autumn smiles benignantly upon this somewhat harassed land. Can a pending change of government have

Opinion seems to be almost unanimous that it served the Premier (pro-tem) right, but there also is a disposition to hold his predecessor responsible to some extent.

Driving Again in Galicia After Lengthy Period of Quiet

Petrograd, Sept. 18.—News of a series of new battles in the general neighborhood of Halicz, in Galicia, ends an almost unprecedented period of quiet extending on all the Russian fronts except that in Asia Minor, where the Turks, without marked success, are steadily repeating their efforts to launch an offensive against the left flank of the Russian army of the Caucasus.

Thus, after weeks of suspended activity, Gen. Brusiloff has energetically resumed his campaign against Lemberg. Halicz, which obstructs the way to that city from the southeast, again is being subjected to the most violent pressure by the Russian forces, which are throwing the greatest weight of their attack north of Halicz on the Narayuvka to Podvysacke.

It is believed by Russian officials here that the left flank of the army of the German general Count von Bothmer soon will be obliged to give way before the fierceness of the Russian onslaught, leaving the Russians a way to Halicz open from the north. It is noteworthy that in the first of

VISITOR TO SPEAK

IN ROYAL VICTORIA

Subject Will Be "Trade and Patriotism," Guest of Canadian Club

The Royal Victoria theatre has been taken in order to give all who wish to hear Sir George E. Foster speak on Wednesday evening an opportunity to do so. "Trade and Patriotism" will be the subject of the address. As Sir George is minister of trade and commerce and has been connected with the public life of the Dominion for many years, there is no doubt that a big audience will be out to greet him. He is expected to arrive late on Tuesday night on the steamer Prince Rupert along with other members of the Dominion's Royal Commission, which is to remain here three days and take evidence.

The commission with which Sir George is connected is working to secure information regarding the resources and advantages of the different dominions of the empire. The commission was appointed by the British government in co-operation with the other governments to promote imperial interests.

On Wednesday the Canadian Club will entertain the members of the commission and will hear an address from Sir George at the Empress hotel at 12.30.

ASSUMES DUTIES

J. M. Graham, New General Secretary, Takes Over Office at Local Y. M. C. A.

The new general secretary of the Y. M. C. A., J. M. Graham, took over his duties at the local association on Friday, September 15.

Mr. Graham comes to the institution here from the Vancouver Y. M. C. A., in which he has held the position of general secretary for the past 15 years. His experience with association work antedates his coming to British Columbia, however, as he was closely identified with the Y. M. C. A. in Ontario, and joined to his general experience he had useful training in the Canadian military camps which has proved of use in the last two years in which the institutions generally throughout the Dominion have thrown open their doors to the man in khaki. The new general secretary professes to have no revolutionary tendencies in his methods. He wants simply to find out, to commence with, what the conditions are in Victoria. By and by he hopes to bring on a constructive programme. He believes that the association which develops gradually has chances of longer life, and prefers the "safe and sound" principle.

That he is not dropping into a backwater is proved by his desire to keep abreast of the very latest opinion on the subject of association administration. This year, like his two associates here, Messrs. R. E. Crompton, the boys' secretary, and A. H. Hodges, the physical director, he has been attending one of the summer schools intended for the help of those who are interested in seeing the best and most efficient methods brought into the administration of the various Y. M. C. A. departments. After leaving the Vancouver association he spent some weeks at Sebec, Washington, where the Pacific Northwest Y. M. C. A. summer school was in session. Mr. Hodges, the physical director, also attended the same school and took the course. Mr. Crompton was at the Canadian summer school at Kouchiching, Ont., studying boys' work. All have returned with new ideas and fresh inspiration.

"The association here has a good building, and while the conditions are not normal, there is no reason why we should not do splendid work among the boys and young men of the city," Mr. Graham said this morning.

The regular meeting of the Y. M. C. A. board is to be held to-morrow, when plans for the season's classes and departmental work will be discussed. Sufficient is not yet known to make any definite announcement of the winter's programme.

Mr. and Mrs. Graham and their three children have taken up their residence on Gladstone avenue.

NEW WAR LOAN IS WELL SUPPORTED

Subscriptions Coming Into Local Banks Steadily Show Interest of Public

The subscription lists for the new Canadian war loan will close on Saturday, September 23. The issue, which is for $100,000,000 in five per cent bonds to mature October 1, 1931, offers every Canadian the opportunity to assist the government in a practical way to carry on the war to a successful conclusion. So far the public has responded well, and it is anticipated that the last two or three days before the closing of the lists will find the banks all over the country exceptionally busy entering up applications.

For the most part the Victoria banks have not found the subscriptions quite as numerous as for the same period for the far loan of last year. One of the larger banking concerns of the city, however, speaks with enthusiasm of the interest shown by the public, and said that although the amounts subscribed were practically the same as last year, they found themselves with more subscribers. It is not improbable that the novelty of a Canadian war loan last year brought forward the subscribers immediately, whereas this year they are, knowing the time limit is September 23, taking it more deliberately, many deferring the placing of their subscriptions until the last moment.

COUNCIL TO DISCUSS BRIDGE RESOLUTION

Important Subject Comes Up To-night; Investment of City's Sinking Funds

The business before the city council this evening presents some features of particular interest. Alderman Todd's motion with regard to eliminating the Esquimalt & Nanaimo Railway from the negotiations for the Johnson street bridge is due for consideration. The situation may be considered from three points of view:

1. The company, which will not contribute more than $50,000 and will only accept the 1915 agreement.
2. The mayor's statement in the election, that the company will voluntarily withdraw and make its own plans, using a single track bridge formerly across Pitt River.
3. Alderman Todd's position that the company should not be allowed to participate unless $150,000 is contributed and the agreement of 1915 is accepted.

It is understood that when the motion is submitted this evening a resolution will be presented that it is inexpedient to proceed till the arbitrators' award on the expropriation proceedings has been announced.

Lord Shaughnessy informed the Times yesterday, in answer to a question on the matter, that the negotiations have been left absolutely with the executive assistant, R. Marpole, and the Montreal management of the C.P.R. will not intervene.

Another matter which is associated with this subject is the solicitor's report on section 26 of the Municipal Act, dealing with motions returned for reconsideration. This arises from the action of the council in failing to follow the regular procedure on Alderman Todd's motion concerning the conduct of negotiations, whereby the resolution became dormant by accident. It is stated that no parliamentary authority can be found for the language of the statute, which appears to have been adopted in British Columbia a number of years ago without any precedent from standard parliamentary procedure.

The most important matter upon which the finance committee will report to the council will be the participation or otherwise in the Dominion loan. It is entirely a choice whereby the city should invest $250,000 in buying back outstanding debentures, which it is stated can be done for a limited amount now, and thereby decrease the debt, or put the money in the second national loan. The committee had the question under advisement to-day.

A subject which is likely to produce a warm discussion is that dealing with Sunday trading, which will be brought up in a motion of Alderman Johns. The alderman asks for a special committee to be appointed and secure permission for the prosecution of retail grocers who open on Sunday. A sharp controversy occurred in 1912 on the subject of tobacco and news-stands, and also fruit-stands. The motion is regarded as certain to pass.

Sued for Damages.—His Honor Judge Lampman this morning reserved judgment in a case for damages brought by Edwin Frampton against the Saanich municipality for wrong sale of a lot at the tax sale. The sale of the lot was admitted and it was also admitted that the taxes on it had been paid previous to the sale, the money which should have been placed to the credit of this particular lot having been credited on another property owned by the plaintiff. Mr. Frampton claimed damages to the ex-

Verdict of Suicide.—A verdict of suicide was returned at the inquest this morning into the circumstances of the death of Mrs. Eleanor Catherine Symonds, who swallowed cyanide of potassium on Saturday morning at 424 Linden avenue. She had been depressed, and the report of the son being missing at the front had preyed on her mind. She was 43 years of age and a native of Adelaide, S. A. The funeral takes place to-morrow afternoon at 2 o'clock, the services being conducted by Rev. Dr. Cameron. The remains will be forwarded by the Sands Funeral Company to Seattle later for cremation.

Crisco and Butter

HOUSEWIVES who have always used butter in the making of "special" cakes and other cookery, often have doubts about using Crisco in its place. They feel that there can be nothing so rich and wholesome as butter.

And that is true of practically every cooking fat, except

It is easy to make a test yourself to show that Crisco makes cake just as rich, just as nutritious and just as appetizing as the best of creamery butter.

Make one cake with butter, and another with Crisco. Put them before your family without telling them which is which. Ask them to distinguish.

You will find that they cannot pick out the butter cake—more than likely they will point to the Crisco cake and say "that is the one made with butter".

And Crisco costs only half what butter does.

FAMOUS HINDU POET IN VICTORIA

Sir Rabindranath Tagore Arrives on Canada Maru To-day

WILL LECTURE IN UNITED STATES

Utters Warning Against Menace of Modern Materialism

Possessing a stately personality, and robed in accordance with the adopted patrician dress of the illustrious Bengali family of which he is a member, Sir Rabindranath Tagore, the Hindu poet, arrived on the Canada Maru this morning from Japan where he has been on a visit.

Sir Rabindranath, who won the Nobel prize for literature in 1913, the first Asiatic to be so signally honored, is a distinguished member of one of the famous families of India, one cousin being the Maharaja Bahadur Sir Pradyot Tagore, another the celebrated musician Sir Sourindro Tagore, and two of his nephews are among the leading artists of India; who are prominent in giving a new turn to the pictorial development of art in the peninsula.

In the course of a chat with the Times representative, the poet explained that after three months in Japan, he was on his way to Seattle to give a lecture tour under the auspices of the New York Lyceum lecture bureau, and would be met in Seattle by Major J. P. Pond, its superintendent.

The poet, who is about 54 years of age but looks younger, commenced writing when he was 24 years of age and is the author of many literary works, a number of which have been published in English. At the age of 40 he founded a college in his native city, Bolpur, and with him is a British teacher, W. W. Pearson, who holds an appointment at the college as well as an artist, Meekun C. Dey. The poet has written some 10 poetical and 28 prose works which are widely read. At Seattle he will be joined by Somendra Nath Barman, of Burnah, a graduate of Harvard University, who will act as his secretary during the American tour.

On account of his well known views on modern theological development, the Times man asked Sir Rabindranath what faith he accepted out of the many creeds of his native country. The answer came that while his father had been one of the leaders of the Brahmo-Samaj, the reform movement of Brahminism, he did not subscribe to the tenets of any particular denomination, but based his principles on the older teachings. He had particularly sought to inculcate those basic principles in the addresses given at Kelo and Tokyo universities in Japan during the recent visit.

The poet, however, hastened to add that he had no intention to turn his lectures in America into theological debating schools and that it was rather sociology, art, literature and the trend of Hindu development which would form the basis of his talks to the public. For that end, and to illustrate the growth of modern art in the lower Ganges particularly and all over India generally, he is taking a collection of selected pictures representing the different artistic talent of the country.

Sir Rabindranath did not allude to the matter, doubtless desiring to avoid the raking up of inter-imperial differences, that he was refused some three or four years ago a ticket to Canada by a leading tourist agency in London, England, being an Asiatic, and declined the intervention of Lord Morley, himself, a famous literary man, and then secretary of state for India, to secure a special permit, saying that he did not intend to take advantage of his rank.

The poet was disinclined to say much for publication, but added that he hoped the American public would better understand the point of view of literary and artistic India after he had completed his tour.

The address at Kelo University shows very much the spirit of the man, speaking the voice of an older civilization than the Occidental, and regarding the materialism and self-confidence of the western peoples as a blind guide seeking to lead away the Asiatic countries into paths of conflict and jealousy.

In the course of this address Sir Rabindranath said: "What has impressed me most in this country is the conviction that you have realized nature's secrets, not by methods of analytical knowledge, but by sympathy. You have known her language of lines and music of colors, the symmetry in her irregularities, and the cadence in her freedom of movement; you have seen how she leads her immense crowds of things, yet avoids frictions."

"All particular civilization is the interpretation of particular human experience. Europe seems to have felt emphatically the conflict of things in the universe, which can only be brought under control by conquest. Therefore she is ever ready for fight, and the best portion of her attention is occupied in organizing forces. But Japan has felt, in her world, the touch of some presence which has evoked in her soul a feeling of reverent adoration."

"Science, when it oversteps its limits and occupies the whole region of life, has its fascination. It looks so powerful because of its superficiality—as does a hippopotamus which is very little else but physical. Science speaks of the struggle for existence, but forgets that man's existence is not merely of surface. Man truly exists in the ideal of perfection, whose depth and height are not yet measured. Life based upon science is attractive to some men, because it has all the characteristics of sport; it reigns seriousness, but is not profound.

"Where man is at his greatest, he is unconscious. Your civilization, whose mainspring is the bond of human relationship, has been nourished in the depth of a healthy life beyond reach of prying self-analysis. But a mere political relationship is all-conscious; it is an eruptive inflammation of aggressiveness."

"You must have detected a strong accent of fear whenever the West has discussed the possibility of the rise of an eastern race. The reason of it is this that the power, by whose help she thrives, is an evil power; so long as it is held on her own side she can be safe, while the rest of the world trembles. We must try to come to that normal state of mind by which we can clearly discern our own danger and avoid it, without being just towards the source of that danger."

"However, above all things Europe has held high before our minds the banner of liberty, through centuries of martyrdom and achievement—liberty of conscience, liberty of thought and action, liberty in the ideal of art and literature."

"When this conflagration of war consumes itself and dies down, leaving its memorial in ashes, the eternal light will again shine in the East—the East which has been the birthplace of the morning sun of man's history. And who knows if that day has not already dawned, and the sun not risen, in the easternmost horizon of Asia?"

SAYS SEARCH FOR STAR IS SINCERE

Interview With Romaine Fielding Who is Appearing at Pantages This Week

Romaine Fielding, the celebrated motion picture star, arrived in this city yesterday from Vancouver. He is at present on a tour of the Pantages circuit in a strong dramatic playlet called "The Heart of a Man," and opened his engagement at the Pantages theatre in this city with the matinee this afternoon. This little vaudeville diversion, Mr. Fielding says, he has taken as a vacation from his steady work for the last five years in the films. He will return at once to motion picture production at the conclusion of the present tour.

Referring to-day to the announcement which has been made in his behalf by Manager Rice of the Pantages theatre concerning his desire to meet aspirants for a motion picture career in this city, Mr. Fielding stated that Mr. Rice had acted in good faith. "I am absolutely sincere in this matter," he continued. "My quest is genuine. This is not a press agent stunt for publicity or newspaper space. I am looking for candidates for the position of co-star with myself in a new production company which will be organized as soon as I complete my present engagement on the Pantages circuit. Indeed, I am most sincere in the matter."

"I realize that the standard from which I measure the applicants who have been good enough to make an appointment to meet me on this tour, is a high one. It is based upon my experience as a star and producer for many years in what the public is demanding from the photoplay producers to-day. I am looking for another Mary Pickford, and, if possible, a better one. This sounds like an impossible contract, but I want to say that surprises come every day in matters like this. I have come upon some exceedingly promising material already in the cities I have been in. Mary Pickford was discovered unexpectedly, and that is how I expect to find my future co-star. One cannot always tell from the surface appearances of a young woman, what qualifications she may have when put to the test before the camera, and that is what I want to do. I want to meet every girl who has an ambition to work in motion picture production. Though I may not be able to consider her for the position I am particularly anxious to fill, I may be able to give her a word of advice which will help her in her ambition. In order to avoid confusion, I have adopted certain physical requirements which the girl must have in general to make her interesting to me as a candidate for the position of leading lady in my company. These I understand have been published in the papers of this city. I want to see a good photograph of each applicant before I decide to meet her, for it can be readily understood that I have not the time to meet all applicants indiscriminately. I must make a selection of a number of the more promising ones from the photographs submitted at the box office. In Vancouver there were over a hundred, and in Seattle, nearly two hundred photographs submitted, so my task can be imagined. I have not seen the photographs that have been submitted in Victoria, though I understand that there are already a number awaiting my arrival."

In a letter to Mr. Rice received previous to Mr. Fielding's arrival here, he sets forth the particulars involved in his search for a leading lady as follows:

"During my engagement over the Pantages circuit I am desirous of securing a young lady of intelligence and moral worth whom I shall engage upon the completion of my contract with Mr. Pantages as my leading woman in moving pictures. The one selected will be co-star with myself in all productions produced by me. She will have at all times my personal attention to the details of her development in the art of acting for the photoplay."

"My aim is to develop another Mary Pickford and, if possible, surpass the standard the aforesaid lady has set."

"The young lady that I shall choose must be 21 years of age, five feet four or five inches, with large, expressive eyes, small mouth, perfect teeth, well shaped and her hair plentiful, natural wavy preferred. Small hands and feet are essential."

"I do not desire a professional. The most famous motion picture stars of to-day have been discovered; their ability to portray the emotions before the camera has been developed by the director in all cases. It is a handicap rather than otherwise to have had dramatic experience. The ability to act before the camera is born, not made."

"I will be very glad to examine the photographs which you may secure and make preliminary selection from these. I will then be prepared to personally interview those whose photographs have been thus selected and

If I am fortunate in securing the type I want in Victoria, I honestly believe that it will be a very fortunate thing for the young lady, whoever she may be."

METRO PICTURES AT DOMINION NEXT WEEK

The management of the Dominion announces that all arrangements have been completed for the showing of the famous Metro feature productions. The two pictures selected for the opening week, commencing September 25, are "The Shooting of Dan McGraw," which will be shown Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, and for the latter part of the week the superb emotional actress, Mme. Petrova, will be seen in "My Madonna."

The former is the picturization of Robert W. Service's great poem "The Shooting of Dan McGraw," with Edmund Bresse, the eminent dramatic star, in the leading role. "The Shooting of Dan McGraw" is a poem that has probably created more favorable comment than any other rhyme of the Alaskan wilds. Powerfully vivid and written in red-blooded style, "The Shooting of Dan McGraw" is the best work of Mr. Service, whose poems of Alaska in book form were sold into the millions. Edmund Bresse and the company supporting him journeyed to the Northwestern Canadian woods during the heavy snow season, where all the big outdoor scenes were staged. "The Shooting of Dan McGraw" is in five parts, and is one of the real big productions of the period.

Mme. Petrova, the brilliant emotional actress, whose popularity on the stage in London, Petrograd and New York is unequalled by any other stage star, will be seen at the Dominion on September 25, 26 and 27 in "My Madonna," a stirring five act photodrama. "My Madonna" is based on the poem of the same name by Mr. Service. Mme. Petrova was last seen on the stage in New York in the Shubert production of "Fanny," a play that created a profound impression and no little sensation during its long metropolitan run. In "My Madonna" the star will be surrounded by an excellent cast, including Guy Combs, the popular leading man; Albert Hovson, Evelyn Dumbo, James O'Neill and others.

AT THE THEATRES

ROYAL VICTORIA.

Headed by William Farnum, lured from the silent stage by William Fox to head a number of notable feature releases, the cast which is engaged in the presentation of "A Soldier's Oath," which is the attraction at the Royal Victoria. Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, is in itself exceptional. Usually producers of moving pictures content themselves by placing one big name at the head of a production and letting the others do the rest. Not so with William Fox, however. This indefatigable manufacturer is not satisfied until he has assured himself of securing the finest of photoplays, until he has surrounded his star with a cast fully capable of bringing out the finest points and dramatic action of the photoplay to be made.

In "A Soldier's Oath," which is from the pen of Daniel Roosevelt, Mr. Fox has been particularly careful personally to select an aggregation of actors and actresses capable of enhancing the lights and shades of this delightful and thrilling romantic drama of the screen. Mr. Roosevelt himself passed upon the tests of the artists selected by Mr. Fox and before the cast was completed to the satisfaction of both, there was many words war, which, however, all made in the long-run for the production of a perfectly balanced performance.

Beside Mr. Farnum in his masterly portrayal of Pierre Duval there appear the dainty and beloved heroine of the shadow stage, Miss Dorothy Bernard, as Margot, his young and charming wife, Lillian Thatcher, the famous Broadway favorite, as Fuchet, Duval's long, stern and frowning dowager, Kittens Reichert, the most charming child upon the spoken or silent stage, as Mavis, daughter of Duval, at the age of five, and that well-known leading man, Henry J. Herbert as Lazare, the treacherous correspondent.

In addition to these are seen in this production such noted artists as Ben Marburgh, Walter Connelly, Will Louis, John Findlay and Alfred Frederick.

There is also shown on the same programme a good comedy and a Weekly Gazette, the whole making a most acceptable evening's entertainment.

MAJESTIC THEATRE.

Florence La Badie, the popular star of the stage and screen, will appear at the Majestic theatre to-day, Tuesday and Wednesday in Edwin Thanhouser's great five-act production, "Master Shakespeare, Strolling Player," founded upon the interesting question discussed for centuries by the most learned scholars: "Did William Shakespeare write the plays which have been credited to him, or were they the work of Lord Francis Bacon, scholar and statesman?" This extraordinarily clever drama gives Florence La Badie one of the best opportunities of her brilliant career to display the rare talents which have made her an acknowledged leader in her chosen field.

Shakespeare, strolling player, and Lord Bacon are prominent characters, and the now beautiful maiden of noble blood finds herself the cause of a deadly rivalry between the two distinguished men. As the absorbing story reaches a powerful climax, it is again cleverly brought back to modern times, and ends with the girl once more in her lieutenant lover's arms.

Florence La Badie is magnificent as the central figure of this remarkably original drama from the gifted pen of Philip Loneragan, and is excellently supported by a large and very enjoyable entertainment, which will no doubt draw crowds to this popular playhouse during the first three days of the week.

PANTAGES THEATRE.

The vaudeville bill which opened at the Pantages theatre with the matinee this afternoon is replete with many unusual features. The headliner is Boyle Woolfolk's "Junior Follies," an entertainment including a score of clever youngsters. This production, which is looked upon as the biggest vaudeville number that Boyle Woolfolk has turned out with the possible exception of "That's My Horse," includes a number of youthful merry-makers of decided talent. There are five separate scenes in the act.

The bill is distinguished by the presence of Romaine Fielding, the famous motion picture star, in person. Romaine Fielding was one of the first well-known stars of the stage who left legitimate drama for the film. He became the first star leading man for the Lubin Studios, and has been for the last six years director as well as a prominent member of the Lubin Western Company engaged in film production in which western scenery was the background. During his years with the Lubin Studios in the southwest Mr. Fielding was noted for striking a place that was unprecedented in the photoplay, writing his own stories, playing the principal parts, directing the productions and managing his own company. Mr. Fielding in this direction reached a climax in the production of "The Eagle's Nest," in which he ap-

Successful Dentistry

THE RESULT OF OUR SPLENDID METHODS

Dentistry, as it's practiced to-day, is far too important and far too costly for you to entrust your teeth to the care of any but a duly qualified dental surgeon.

In some offices where students and beginners are allowed to practice, patients do not receive the same and skill they are entitled to.

The result is that a person is going backwards and forwards continually for "repairs," and compelled to pay for all the "extra" service.

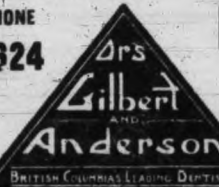

In this modern institution all the dental surgeons are men of skill, ability and long experience. We have no students or beginners here to experiment on our patients.

Every time we undertake a patient's case we go ahead and produce the Gilbert standard of scientific dentistry.

What is more, we issue an iron-clad 10-year service guarantee—your insurance against poor work, inferior materials, unskillful treatment, continual visits for repairs and "extra" fees.

If you come in to-morrow we shall be glad to examine YOUR NEGLECTED TEETH and give you our estimate of the trifling cost of restoring them to a sound, clean, beautiful condition. THIS SERVICE IS GRATIS—places you under no obligation whatever.

"BOY PREACHER" WAS ON BURNING SHIP

Young Evangelist and His Father, Now Here, Were Passengers on Congress.

"The Boy Preacher," in other words Charles P. Taylor, this morning told a Times reporter who called on him at his headquarters at the Strathcona hotel something of the exciting experience in which he shared as one of the passengers on the ill-fated steamship Congress which was gutted by fire off Marshfield, Oregon, last Thursday, while on her way north from San Francisco to Seattle.

"It was a lady who first discovered smoke coming from one of the ventilators," he explained. "This must have been about half-past two. They did not tell us anything about it at once, but some of the passengers did note that the course of the ship was changed, so that one of them remarked that we appeared to be going back to San Francisco. The crew must have been fighting the fire for about an hour—they had to break the government seals to get into the hold—before the signal was given to the passengers to put on the life-belts. Everyone knew before this that something was wrong. Clouds of smoke belched from the ventilators. For the most part the passengers were remarkably cool and collected. Everyone seemed to have the greatest confidence in the captain and officers, and it was only among the children that there seemed to be any excitement. We did notice, however, that long before the signal was given for the boats to be lowered an Austrian Jew frightened to death, was in one of them with a rug over his head. They tried to get him out, but wild horses couldn't have dragged him."

Mr. Taylor stated that the boats could only be lowered from one side owing to the dense smoke pouring from the other. Some of the passengers fell into the water, one of the victims of a "wetting" being a man who was a passenger on the Titanic on her last voyage. Mr. Taylor afterwards learned. "The officers stuck by the ship pluckily. The chief engineer was nearly killed by the smoke. The male passengers were the last to leave the burning vessel, and after they were well clear they saw the officers come off, last of all being the captain, whom we heartily cheered. He stayed out by the Congress all night in a small boat."

Rev. Charles Taylor and his son lost everything except the clothes which they stood up in. Photographs, music, many books and trunks from all over the world, an automobile which "the boy preacher" uses in his services, and a much-prized collection of vocal duets which they had had bound—all were lost. Mr. Taylor, Sr., had only his carpet-slippers on when the signal was given to get life-belts, and while he was down in his cabin getting the latter seized the opportunity to change into boots and take also his overcoat. His son brought off the burning ship nothing but his Bible and his baton.

"The people of North Bend and Marshfield treated us splendidly. We landed about eight o'clock in the evening, and found a great crowd down to cheer the passengers as they landed from the small boats, which had taken about three hours or more to make the distance from Congress ashore. It was lucky there was no wind. We were all provided with beds in private houses, although there were about 250 passengers and 150 men in the crew to look after. We left North Bend the following day at 3.30, and were given the best kind of treatment, right through to Tacoma, which we reached about 9 o'clock, leaving the following morning for Seattle, where we were detained about 11.30 on Saturday morning."

"We were lucky to get off just when we did," said Mr. Taylor. "Five minutes after the last man was in the boats she burst into flames."

Rev. Charles Taylor and his son are in Victoria for two weeks. Last night they preached at the Tabernacle Baptist church, which, however, was so entirely inadequate to the needs of the big congregation that it has been decided to hold the meetings hereafter in one of the theatres of the city.

"The Boy Preacher" is English-born. He is one of a big family of ten children, and since 1912 they have made their home in Pasadena, Cal. Each year he and his father spend about nine months touring through the country holding evangelistic meetings, and have visited practically every city from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

CHARTER OF SALVOR BRINGS ABOUT SALE

Wrecking Steamer Iaqua Was Stripped of Salvage Gear and Sold for $85,000

San Francisco, Sept. 13.—Stripped of her wrecking gear and salvaging apparatus the wrecking steamer Iaqua, owned by the Union Iron Works, has been sold to the Parrott-McCormick Steamship Company for $85,000. Her new owners will refit and give the vessel a general overhauling before placing her in the coast lumber trade.

The decision of the Union Iron Works to remove the gear from the Iaqua and offer her for sale came as a result of the action of the local underwriters in chartering the British wrecking steamer Salvor to do the work of salvaging the steamer Bear, which is aground near Eureka. The Iaqua was hired at the outset to do the work, but the underwriters on finding that they could get the Salvor at a cheaper rate obtained permission from Washington to allow the British vessel to work in American waters and let the Iaqua go. This leaves this coast without an American salvage vessel.

J. Ringwood, vice-president of the American Iron Works, said that W. H. Hanna, formerly trial engineer at the Union Iron Works, has been appointed port engineer for the line, with offices in this city.

Bringing a cargo of 4,050 tons of ore and 2,216 tons of nitrate, the W. R. Grace steamer Santa Cruz arrived in port Saturday. Six hundred tons of the cargo was unloaded here and the Santa Cruz departed for Tacoma and Victoria to discharge the remainder of the cargo.

Twenty-seven days out from Shanghai the steamer Yucatan has arrived in port. The vessel was recently sold by C. P. Doe to the Robert Dollar Company.

TRAMWAY FOR ESTEVAN

Leabro Leaves To-day With Material for Construction of Line.

The Dominion lighthouse tender Leabro will get away from port to-day for Estevan Point with material for the construction of a tramway at that point. The shipment being taken to the west coast includes a quantity of steel rails for the purpose of laying a narrow-gauge railway from tidewater to the station, a distance of about two and a half miles. It is proposed to use a gasoline-operated car on the tracks to transport supplies from the landing place to the lighthouse station at Estevan Point.

The Newington is also leaving port to-day to undertake the semi-annual overhaul of buoys and beacons in the Gulf of Georgia.

PRESIDENT RUNNING LATE.

The Pacific Coast Steamship Company's steamship President will be considerably behind schedule in reaching this port from the Golden Gate. She is not looked for until to-morrow. The local agents have been advised that the steamer will be a day late in leaving on her outward trip, leaving Seattle at 11 a. m. on Saturday and Victoria 5 p. m. same day for San Francisco, San Pedro and San Diego.

SANTA CRUZ IS DUE.

The American steamer Santa Cruz, Capt. Lopez, is expected here with a cargo of nitrates from the west coast of South America. She left San Francisco on Saturday for this port.

The bulk of the Awa's cargo is destined for eastern points via Seattle, 4,000 tons in all, this including 3,448 bales and cases of raw silk and silk goods, valued alone at $1,724,000.

The liner is also bringing in a total of 207 passengers, seven being for Victoria, and the remainder for Seattle.

The Nippon Yusen Kaisha will have two outward sailings this week, the Kanakura Maru for Hongkong to-morrow, and the Inaba Maru for Kobe on Wednesday.

Both vessels have all first-cabin accommodations taken and both have full cargoes of freight for the Far East.

HAWAII AT DELAGOA BAY

Lost Long Ocean Race to More Speedy Barkentine Puako.

The superiority in speed of the American barkentine Puako over the Hawaiian barkentine Hawaii, has been clearly established with the arrival of these two vessels at Delagoa Bay from Victoria. Covering the same route it was expected that a pretty race would ensue between these two vessels, with the odds in favor of the Hawaii. The latter vessel, which loaded lumber at Genoa Bay, had a start of nineteen days over the Puako. The Hawaii is reported to have reached Delagoa Bay Sept. 15, two days after the Puako.

PILOT-PROGRESSING.

Capt. Andy Christenson, one of the Vancouver pilots, who recently sustained a compound fracture of the ankle, as the result of an automobile accident, is getting along as satisfactorily as can be expected. The injured member is now in a plaster cast. Shipping men here are hoping Capt. Andy will soon be boarding vessels again.

SCHOONER IN HARBOR.

The four-masted schooner Conquiam City is now lying in the upper harbor preparatory to being hauled out at the Victoria Machinery Depot. Four huge keelsons and 2 sister keelsons have to be hoisted aboard the vessel before she can be placed on the ways.

MEETING POSTPONED.

The meeting of the North Pacific Passenger Association, which was to have convened at Victoria Sept. 12, has been postponed until October 9.

CANADA DAMAGED IN ORIENTAL TYPHOON

Japanese Liner Delayed Two Days Repairing Broken Mast and Wireless Antennae

Swept by a big typhoon as she was steaming between Shanghai and Moji, the Osaka Shosen Kaisha liner Canada Maru sustained such damage that she was delayed in leaving Japan for this coast. The cyclone raked the steamship about half way between the two ports, and during its height the top of the steel screw mast snapped and the wireless antennae carried away. On arrival at Kobe the repair work was impeded as the vibration caused by the winches and swinging booms when working cargo prevented the men from staying aloft. It was necessary to clamp a new top mast to the broken steel mast before the wireless aerials could be lashed in place, and this operation occupied two days.

This accounts for the delayed departure of the Canada Maru from Yokohama. The vessel was posted to leave Yokohama August 31, but she failed to get away until September 2.

The liner had a remarkably good run across the Pacific and reached William Head at midnight Sunday. Captain Suresa reports a southeasterly gale which lasted two days when about 1,000 miles out from this coast, otherwise the trans-Pacific trip was completed under most favorable conditions. There was a total absence of fog throughout the voyage. The Canada Maru berthed at the outer docks about 8 a. m. to-day, and disembarked 18 Japanese stowage passengers. The through passengers numbered 131, there being 8 cabin and 115 steerage, the latter including 93 Japanese, 19 Russians and 1 Indian.

The liner brought in a full cargo of 6,054 tons for all ports, the local freight amounting to but 83 tons, while for Vancouver she carried 287 tons. For Seattle the Canada Maru has 1,481 tons, the most valuable shipment being 3,879 bales and cases of raw silk and silk goods, valued at $1,335,000. Large through shipments were made up of 16,483 chests of tea, 3,390 packages of rubber, 620 slabs of tin, 2,783 cases of porcelain and 1,141 cases of crockery. The liner got away from port during the forenoon for Seattle.

INQUIRY HELD INTO CONGRESS DISASTER

Officers, members of the crew and passengers of the steamship Congress, which caught fire off Coos Bay Thursday, are being examined at Seattle to-day by Capt. Harry C. Lord, United States inspector of boilers, and Capt. B. B. Whitney, inspector of hulls. In the event of it being proved that no one was guilty of negligence or violation of regulations, the hearing will be final, although there is a possibility that court proceedings may be instituted by individuals.

The Congress is lying in the lower part of Coos bay, near Marshfield, pending temporary repairs. The water has been pumped out and the vessel is now on an even keel. Piles are being driven inside the entrance to the bay to hold the vessel in position while temporary repairs are being made. During the week-end the B. C. Salvage Company's steamer Salvor arrived on the scene from the wreck of the Bear, and pumped water into the burning vessel.

The Congress is not so extensively damaged as was at first supposed, and it is expected that she will shortly be in commission.

TALTHYBIUS ON SOUND.

The Blue Funnel liner Taltihybus, Capt. Culham, has returned to Seattle after bunkering at Comox, to load cargo for the return trip to the Orient. The vessel is scheduled to sail from Seattle Sept. 25, but it is not expected that she will be in a position to get away before the end of the month. The liner Proteus, of this fleet, is due to sail from Hongkong Sept. 23 for Victoria.

SMALL BAGS SECURED BY LOCAL SPORTSMEN

Deer Shot at Sooke and Other Points, but Few Birds

Yesterday was a big day for local sportsmen. In every direction they made for the country, some going out by rail and almost as many scouring the far off districts, access to which was secured by motor car. Reports from Sooke indicate that a good many deer were secured. A party of ten hunters brought in four deer and a number of grouse from that district, and many others from the same neighborhood were seen returning with game.

All the mountains and valleys from Victoria to Cowichan seemed to have been covered. There were no big bags, but many hunters secured deer and a few grouse were shot.

A local sportsman who seems to have voiced the general opinion said when interviewed this morning: "There are plenty of birds, but it is almost impossible to get them. Very early in the morning and late in the evening the dogs can work a little, but speaking generally, dogs are no good and will not be until there is rain."

There seem to be plenty of valley quail, but they are not in season and will not be allowed to be shot this year. It was the impression that the severe winter had killed off the valley quail, but there are large numbers almost everywhere. It is altogether different with the mountain quail. There are none of them to be seen. They have disappeared from the mountains almost everywhere. All hunters report the same, the almost total disappearance of the mountain variety of the little imported birds.

There have not been as many deer shot this year as usual, largely owing to the fact that the woods are so dry. The deer can always hear hunters coming long before they get within shot. There is plenty of game in the woods and large numbers of hunters were out looking for it, but owing to the dry season very small bags have been secured.

With the help of Ty Cobb, the Detroit Tigers held their lead in the American League yesterday, by beating the Athletics in a close game. The Georgia Peach, as usual, was a prominent factor in the victory.

While the Tigers were winning, the White and Red Sox clubs were battling in Chicago, and the world's champions gained the victory and with it second place, placing the Chicago men back in third again.

There were no games in the National League, hence the standing of clubs was unchanged.

CUE ARTISTS WILL GIVE EXHIBITION

Chas. Grimsbow, the local cue expert, will meet Jack McMillan, the provincial champion, in an exhibition match in the near future. McMillan is now a resident of this city, having recently taken over the billiard rooms in the Empress hotel in partnership with R. H. Cliburn, of Vancouver. The match will be played in aid of one of the local war funds and will likely be a 700-point exhibition. As there will be no expense attached to the venture, the hotel management having offered to provide seating accommodation free of charge, a nice sum should be realized.

SEATON SLIPPING INTO OBSCURITY

Former Phillie Star Has Not Had a Good Year Since He Joined Federals

St. Paul, Nebraska, taken considerable pride in being the home of Alexander the Great, and Wahoo, in the same state, is rather puffed up about being the birthplace of Sam Crawford. The little city of Blair, about twenty-five miles north of Omaha, may not be quite so vainglorious as the other Nebraska communities, but its citizens are still able to extract some nourishment from the fact that Tom Seaton was born there. Thomas made his Blair debut on August 30, 1887, and hence is thirty years of age.

While a Nebraskan by birth, Seaton spent his youth in California, and got his baseball start in that state. He made an excellent reputation with the Portland club of the Pacific Coast League, helping to pitch the Oregonians to a pennant in 1911, and the following year broke into fast company with the Phillies. From the first he was a star and in 1913 he surpassed his fellow Nebraskan, Alexander the Great, in effectiveness. Seaton pitched in 52 games this year, and was credited with 27 victories as against 12 defeats, while Alex. won 22 games for the Quakers.

In 1914 Seaton cast in his lot with the Feds, joining the Brooklyn club. He took part in 44 games with the Bakers, winning 25 and losing 14. Last year, with the Brooklyn and Newark Feds, Seaton lost much of his former effectiveness, winning 14 games to 17 lost. When the Feds blew up Seaton was secured by Joe Tinker, but while he has pitched a good quality of ball at times, he has been far from his old Philadelphia form and has been recently released to Indianapolis of the American Association.

Seaton is a citizen of Seattle in the off-season and adds to his income by running a drug emporium. He is a brother-in-law of Fournier, of the Chicago White Sox.

WELSH AND SCALER MEET IN CALGARY

After his proposed bout in Vancouver next Saturday in aid of one of the patriotic funds, Freddy Welsh will travel to Calgary, where he will take on Kid Scaler for six rounds. The Calgary match will also be in aid of the patriotic fund and the regimental funds of the 21st Battalion. It will be held under the auspices of the battalion. In addition to the main attraction there will be several preliminary bouts between Calgary amateur boxers.

KANTLEHNER RELEASED TO MORAN'S PHILLIES

Pittsburg, Sept. 18.—The Pittsburg National League Club Saturday released Pitcher Ervin G. Kantlehner to the Philadelphia National club by the waiver route for $1,500. Kantlehner, who has been with Pittsburg three years, will leave at once for Philadelphia, where he will play the rest of the season.

TENNIS CLUB DEFEATED.

The Victoria C. C. defeated the "Victorian Lawn Tennis Club" in a game of cricket at the Jubilee Hospital grounds on Saturday afternoon, winning by 84 runs. H. Hudson and V. C. Martin had the best innings for the tennis players with 30 and 29 respectively, the latter not out, while A. Booth was high man for the Cricket Club with 59. Notwithstanding their lack of practice, the tennis players did well in the field and the bowling of Fairbairn was also good. The final score was 177 to 93.

THROUGH FOR SEASON.

Chicago, Sept. 18.—Clark Griffith, manager of the Washington Americans, announced before leaving Chicago that Harry Harper, his star left-handed twirler, would not pitch any more games this season. Harper's arm is sore and Griffith said he did not care to take any chances with his slaban, as he expected him to be one of the best left-handers in the league next season.

NEWCASTLE WINS.

The Newcastle soccer team emerged victorious from their game with the patients of the Military Convalescent Home on the Canteen grounds on Saturday afternoon by score of 2 to 1. Both teams played fine football and the game was keenly contested throughout, Pte. Willis scoring the goal for the returned soldiers.

LAWN BOWLING.

The games played on the green of the Victoria Lawn Bowling Club on Saturday afternoon resulted as follows:

FIVE C'S WINNERS OF VIRTUE CUP

Defeat Garrison in Final Game of Series to Decide Tie

The Five C's defeated the Garrison at Beacon Hill on Saturday afternoon in the final game of the series to decide the tie for the Virtue Cup. The Five C's, as has been the case throughout the entire season, won on their fine fielding ability and their spirited game generally, along with some fine bowling. Both teams fought hard for the game, on Saturday, but the Five C's fielders seemed to be everywhere. A pleasing feature of the game was the fact that P. C. Payne, the captain of the Five C's, scored the winning run for his team. As Mr. Payne is one of the hardest working and most enthusiastic cricketers in the city and is responsible in no small way for the present satisfactory condition of the game in Victoria, this was a fitting finish to a successful season's cricket.

The Garrison were the first to bat, sending in R. B. Pater and C. M. S. Askey, the bowlers being Radcliffe and Lea. The score stood at 46, when Tucker, who had gone on in place of Radcliffe, clean bowled Askey for 28. He had played a very good and plucky innings, as the ball was bumping very badly on the hard, dry wicket. Pater made 13 and was caught by Bosson. The rest (with the exception of Sgt. Wells 11, and H. Beales, who earned his bat for 6), gave very little trouble, and the eleven were all out for 87. Tucker had 8 wickets for 25 and Lea 3 for 28. The fielding of the Five C's was excellent and they are far away the best and cleanest fielders in the league.

The Five C's sent in Radcliffe and Nicol, Askey and Sgt. Wells being the battery. Nicol was bowled by Wells without scoring, and Rev. J. W. Flinton came in. He batted well, and the runs came steadily until he had completed 16, when he was caught by Montgomery, off Askey, from a ball he did not get hold of properly. Radcliffe, who had batted very well, was unfortunately run out, both batsmen being at the one end. He had made 12 and deserved a better fate. Tucker, who was in with him at the time, was out lb.w. trying to scoop a well pitched up ball to leg. May and Payne were in together when the winning hit was made by the latter. The score stood at 88 when Payne was caught in the long field after a very useful innings of 21, the highest score for his side on the first innings. May scored 9 and Lea not out 8, and the innings closed for 105. Stevens was the most successful bowler, having 4 wickets for 25 runs. Askey 3 for 47 and Wells 2 for 23. This left the Garrison 18 runs behind on the first innings, and they went in again to make runs as quickly as possible and get the Five C's all out before drawing time. When the score had reached 71 (close on 6 o'clock) they closed their innings with 6 wickets down, Pater 11, Stevens not out 14 and Pte. Weeks 10, being the principal scorers. The Five C's, who had 34 runs to make, met with no difficulty, knocking out the runs for the loss of 1 wicket, May being not out 41, Tucker 13, Rawnsley, not out 6, extras 3, total 57. At the fall of the last wicket the Garrison gave three cheers for the Five C's, the latter replying with three for the Garrison. The full score follows:

SGT. KEMP FELL AT BATTLE OF YPRES

Was Formerly Member of Provincial Police in This City

Word has been received through the German Red Cross Society that Sgt. E. H. Kemp, of the 17th Machine Gun section, was killed in the last battle of Ypres. Formerly he was reported in the official dispatches as missing, and until this morning nothing further had been heard of him.

A letter received from the sister of the fallen soldier this morning by C. A. Booth, of the motor license department of the provincial police, told of the receipt of the news from the front.

Sgt. Kemp joined the provincial police force in this city in November, 1912, and was transferred to Ladysmith on December 1, 1912. From that time until he joined the 48th Battalion in February, 1915, he served in the force and did excellent work. He left Canada with the 48th as a private and later transferred to the machine gun section. He was promoted to sergeant and fell fighting in the fierce bombardment at Ypres, when the Canadians were driven out of the trenches which they later recovered.

Sgt. Kemp was a married man with two children. When he went to Europe his wife and children followed him to England and are there now.

PERSONNEL OF THE NEW HOUSE

Members of Fourteenth Legislature Are All Men of Fine Type

LEADER WITHOUT STAIN HAS NOTABLE FOLLOWING

There Will Be No Trouble in Selecting a Cabinet of Able Ministers

As has frequently been pointed out, in the Times the men who have been candidates of the Liberal party in the general elections, and most of whom are now members-elect, are an exceptionally fine body of citizens. In public and private reputation, in mental equipment, in business ability, in success on the platform, all are pre-eminently fitted to sit in the legislature as representatives of the people, and almost any eight of them would form a cabinet in whose hands could safely be placed the conduct of affairs.

The Cominck Premier, H. C. Brewster, the leader and the man who will naturally be called upon by his honor the lieutenant governor to form an administration as soon as the Bowser government has resigned, is too well known to require any extended eulogy. His integrity, his fine principles, his absolute clean record in every department of life, his business success, the high ideals he cherishes, and the policies which he stands stamp him as a head of a government such as the province has never had before, and such as it sorely needs at the present moment.

In the prime of life and usefulness, he is not yet 46—Mr. Brewster has spent most of his mature years on this coast, and is intimately acquainted with the province and its requirements. He has been a resident of Victoria for the past 25 years. He was born in Leicester, England. The funeral will take place to-morrow at 2.30 from the B. C. funeral chapel, Rev. F. A. P. Chadwick officiating.

When he left the service he became manager of the extensive trading and fishing business carried on by the late Thomas Earle, one of the largest of its kind in this province. He was organized the Clayquot Sound Canning Company, which he has managed ever since, and he led the way in the adoption of sanitary methods in the operation of the cannery plant. The elimination of the Oriental has been one of the features of his conduct of the fishing business, the only men of alien race employed in his cannery being a few engaged in the curing of the fish, and they would not find employment if white men could be induced to perform the work.

In 1907 Mr. Brewster was elected to the legislature from Alberni. He has never been defeated there and is again member-elect for the constituency. In 1912 a determined set was made against him by the government, and money was spent at the rate of $400 a voter on public works along the west coast in the hope of defeating him. As a matter of fact he was not a candidate there, but there is some reason to believe that if the Liberals of Alberni had contested the seat it would have been won even in spite of this handicap.

At the Liberal convention in 1912 Mr. Brewster was elected president of the provincial association and at Revelstoke in 1913 he was chosen as the leader of the party unanimously. Since then he has increased in influence and in the confidence of the people at large, as shown by the vote in the by-election and on Thursday last. It is not the least of Mr. Brewster's qualifications that he has been a newspaperman—of which fact he is justly proud.

M. A. Macdonald. The choice of ministers is entirely the prerogative of the premier, but it is generally accepted that M. A. Macdonald, who had such a striking victory over the then minister of public works in Vancouver in February and was again returned at the head of the poll last week, in despite of the malignant attacks made upon him in the interval, will be the next attorney-general. In him Mr. Brewster will find a worthy first lieutenant. Mr. Macdonald is of the same fine type as the leader and has sprung from Highland Scottish ancestry, inheriting all the sterling characteristics of the race. He was born in western Ontario 40 years ago, and taught school for some years after leaving school himself. He put himself through the university and the law school by his own exertions, and moved out to this province about ten years ago. Mr. Macdonald settled in Cranbrook, where he practiced law successfully, later moving to Vancouver, where he is now one of the chief members of one of the leading law firms. In 1909 he unsuccessfully contested Cranbrook for the legislature, and the following year, during the tour of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, a speech of his made in the hearing of the great Liberal chieftain led the latter to predict that Mr. Macdonald would carry him far. He is a thinker on high planes, a speaker of polish and refinement, and most convincing in argument. He proved himself to be an invaluable member during the late session, and the reception he got through the country when on tour with Mr. Brewster proved that the people, equally with his own constituents, are quite satisfied that the diabolical conspiracy against his honor, and through him, with intent to destroy the Liberal party, had not one grain of honesty in its basis. Mr. Macdonald will make a splendid attorney-general and under his charge the laws of the country will be administered fully and impartially.

Dr. J. H. King. Dr. James Horace King (Cranbrook) is a physician and surgeon of almost national repute. So highly is he thought of in the Kootenays that an "argument" made use of by his opponents during the campaign was that, if elected, he would be away from the district for a couple of months every year, and that it was not unlikely he would have to remove to Victoria permanently.

Dr. King is a splendid type of man, and among the various candidates is easily one of the most popular, both in his own district and in the mass. He is a man of the highest ideals and principles, with the courage of his convictions, and possesses the confidence of every person in the Crow's Nest Pass country, quite irrespective of politics.

A son of Senator G. G. King, of New Brunswick, one of the leaders of Liberalism in that province, he has always been keenly interested in public affairs. He came to the province in 1898, soon after his graduation from McGill University with honors in medicine and surgery, and settled in Cranbrook during the days of the construction of the C.P.R. There he and his partners have built up a large practice, and the fame of the hospital in that city is mainly due to him. While a very busy man he finds time to keep abreast of the very latest discoveries in his profession, and every move in Dominion and Provincial politics as well. He has taken several post-graduate courses in London, Paris, Vienna and other Continental hospitals and schools, and on this continent.

Dr. King is closely identified with the industrial interests of the Kootenays, and has done a good deal to develop them. He is president of the King Lumber Mills and is associated with a number of other enterprises. From 1903 to 1908 he was member-elect in the C.P.R. but was not a candidate in the C.P.R. but was a vice-president of the Provincial Liberal Association. While in the House he was chief Liberal whip.

Dr. J. D. MacLean. Dr. J. D. MacLean (Greenwood) is another physician of repute. Like many of the members-elect, he is in his early forties. He was a teacher for many years after he left Prince of Wales College in his native province, Prince Edward Island. He taught in this province from 1893 to 1906, for the latter two years of which time he was principal of the Rossland schools. He then took up the study of medicine at McGill University, returning to the province in 1906 to practice. He is finally settled in Greenwood since, and is known as a skilful surgeon and an excellent general practitioner.

Neither his teaching nor his professional duties ever kept Dr. MacLean from following public affairs closely and intelligently. He has an intimate knowledge of British Columbia politics, knows its resources and its needs like a book, and is a fluent and convincing speaker. He has had a good deal of association with municipal affairs, sat in the Greenwood city council for three years, and last year was mayor of that city.

T. D. Pattullo. Thomas D. Pattullo (Prince Rupert), who has repeated in that district the leader's defeat of Hon. William Manson within a few months of that gentleman's being taken into the cabinet, is a former newspaperman, and comes of a famous Ontario family of newspaper owners, managers and writers. Born in Woodstock, Ont., forty-three years ago, he was brought up in the business and became in time the editor of the Galt Reformer. He was appointed secretary to the commissioner of the Yukon in 1897, and left that post to enter business in Dawson. From there he moved to Prince Rupert on the founding of that city, and with the exception of about a year spent in business here and in Vancouver, his time has all been devoted to that city.

During an active and progressive career there he has taken a keen interest in its progress and that of the whole of the north country. He has served his fellow-citizens as alderman, and mayor and in many other ways he has been an influence in the community. He has an unshakable optimism in the future of the port and is energetic and active, as well as being a good speaker.

Dr. W. H. Sutherland. Dr. W. H. Sutherland (Revelstoke) is one of the best-known physicians along the main line of the C. P. R. He has been for a number of years resident there, is exceedingly popular with all classes, without regard to politics, and is a public-spirited citizen. His time is always generously given to any object which will benefit the city, and as he has a very large practice he is one of the busiest men in Revelstoke. He is capable, alert, genial, a clear thinker and a good speaker, and will make an excellent member of the House.

J. M. Yorston. John M. Yorston (Cariboo) is a native of the Okanogan, but has been in this province for a quarter of a century, greater part of which time he has been associated with the Cariboo. He and his two brothers, Robert and William, own the Australian ranch at the 191 Mill, on the Cariboo road, a beautifully situated and scientifically conducted farm of some thousand acres, and have besides extensive stock ranges in the Chilcotin country. Mr. Yorston was senior member for the constituency which he has again been elected for, from 1907 to 1909, and has taken a great interest in public affairs generally. As an agriculturist he is in the forefront of his profession in the province, and has always been identified with progressive movements among farmers. His ranch is in itself a testimonial to his methods, and the thoroughness with which he carries his plans into execution. Mr. Yorston is a man of ideas and initiative, and is an excellent speaker.

John Oliver. John Oliver (Dewdney) will be the senior member of the new legislature, next to Ralph Smith, having first been elected in 1900. He is an Englishman by birth, a native of Derbyshire, where he was born sixty years ago, but he has lived in Canada ever since he was fourteen. He was brought up on a farm in Wellington county, Ontario, and came to this province over thirty years since, settling in the Delta of the Fraser. There he has brought under cultivation a fine farm, the active management of which is now in the hands of one of his sons.

Mr. Oliver has always taken an active interest in public life, municipally and otherwise. He has been a councillor for years, a reeve for several terms, and in the legislature his career has been one to be proud of. He is essentially a tribune of the people, and his voice has ever been raised in defence of the principles of democratic government. He was one of the keenest of critics, whether in the House or out of it, and to the defeated premier in particular he was persona non grata on that account. It is common knowledge that Sir Richard McBride would have been willing to allow his election in Yale after the election of 1909, but that Mr. Bowser was afraid to have him in the legislature.

Of late years Mr. Oliver has been turning on contracting business, of which his knowledge of mechanics and his hard-headed common-sense have helped him to make a success. There is no man in the province who knows more about its politics than he does, or is so conversant with every phase of the happenings of the last twenty years and the sayings of every public man who has taken part in them in that time. He is an expert on House procedure, and there is not a former speaker of the House who can hold a candle to him in that respect.

The Victoria members are so well known here that mention of them would be superfluous. John Hart is a successful financial and insurance man. Ald. George Bell has had business and municipal experience both in the Okanagan and here, and Henry C. Hall is a lawyer whose youth has been no less successful in his profession in Nelson and Victoria.

Vancouver Members. Among the Vancouver members Dr. J. W. McIntosh, the second member, is a native of Guelph, a graduate of the University of Toronto in medicine, with post-graduate courses in England and Johns Hopkins, Baltimore, a member of the University of British Columbia, and a practitioner for twelve years in Ontario and seven in Vancouver. He was several times asked to serve the people on the school board or council, and two years ago he consented to enter the city council, to which he was re-elected this year. He is particularly interested in education.

W. deB. Farris, the third member, is a lawyer of extensive practice; the fourth member is Ralph Smith, who will be the oldest member in the House in point of time since he was first elected to the legislature in 1898, the hero of many hard battles for the Liberal cause; the fifth member is J. C. Cowper, a newspaperman, with experience in Toronto, Prince Rupert and Vancouver, an eloquent speaker and the secretary of the Dominion Trust depositors' committee; and the junior member is Patrick Donnelly, an able financial man and president and general manager of the Canadian Financiers' Trust Company.

Mayor Joseph Walters (Yale) is a native of Derbyshire, where he was in business as a chemist before coming to this province in 1906. He has been in business in the city of Merritt since arriving, and was not long a citizen before he was asked to enter the council, in which he has since occupied a seat. Another chief magistrate is Mayor W. D. Wilson (Rossland), who would have defeated the minister of mines at the by-election but for the intervention of a third candidate—the government forces, and who succeeded in sending him into retirement last Thursday. Mayor Wilson is a native of Halton county, Ontario, and has lived in Rossland for 20 years.

John Keen. John Keen (Kaslo) is a pioneer of the Kootenay district. He is just turned 60, but does not look it, which may be put down to the fact that he was for some years an officer in the Royal Navy, and later served in the Royal Artillery. He is a mining and civil engineer, and during the 26 years he has been in the province he has followed his profession. He drew the original plans for the sewerage system of this city, made the original survey of the city of Kaslo, was the first mayor of that city and held the office for two years, and was then government agent for several years. He is a man of sterling honesty, whose convictions are expressed in a clear and outspoken manner, and his extensive travel make him a valuable man to have in any legislative body.

Space alone prevents notice of the other members elect at this time. Mrs. Barton, whose husband is on active service, left by the midnight boat yesterday for Vancouver en route for England.

Mr. and Mrs. Evan Goodfellow and two children left on to-day's boat after spending a month here with J. Goodfellow. They will visit in Vancouver before returning to their home in Medicine Hat, Alberta.

Mrs. Kennedy, of 26 Linden avenue, left last night for England, where she intends doing war work. Already, as mentioned at the V. A. D. hospital at Stadacona Park, Mrs. Kennedy has given patriotic service of a very high order. Several friends accompanied her to the Vancouver boat last night and gave her a good send-off.

The Victoria members are so well known here that mention of them would be superfluous. John Hart is a successful financial and insurance man. Ald. George Bell has had business and municipal experience both in the Okanagan and here, and Henry C. Hall is a lawyer whose youth has been no less successful in his profession in Nelson and Victoria.

Dizziness

and Specks before the Eyes

Liver derangement is the cause behind these distressing conditions, and only restoration of perfect natural action can effect lasting cure. That is why Dr. Cassell's Instant Relief is so immeasurably superior to the old-fashioned cathartic liver-pills and aperient salts. Such things can only give passing relief by forcing the liver to unnatural action, and have to be continued. Dr. Cassell's Instant Relief strengthens the liver, and so brings about natural action in a natural manner.

Take Dr. Cassell's Instant Relief for constipation, biliousness, torpid liver, sick headache, dizziness, specks before the eyes, flatulence and windy spasms, acidity, heartburn, impure blood, and that dull, heavy feeling which is a sure indication of liver trouble.

CANADIANS FIND NEW CONDITIONS

Fighting on Somme Front Not Same as Near Ypres

London, Sept. 18.—That portion of the Somme battlefield where Canadians are stationed with the Anglo-French forces, and where the brilliant advance has been carried through, is known to the Canadians as "Death Valley."

It is now about three weeks since the Canadians were placed in the front line in the Somme region after a considerable spell in reserve about halfway from the old location near Ypres. What strikes the Canadians chiefly about their new battle-front is that the Germans put many more shells into the supporting trenches than into the front line, nearly all being high explosive. The coming of "whizz-bangs," which used to torment the Canadians so much at Ypres, is a comparative rarity in "Death Valley."

In more ways than this, though, the experience has been a new one for the Canadians. Trenches such as they had been used to for the preceding twelve months or more are practically unknown. Instead there is meagre cover in the debris of German fortifications churned to bits weeks ago in the first rush of the allied forces.

The Canadians hold a line along a maze of trenches and shell holes, one indistinguishable from another. When an attempt is made to dig deeper the Germans at once see the earth being thrown up and promptly send a delivery of high explosives, compelling stoppage of the work.

SIR THOMAS TAIT DIRECTOR-GENERAL

New Official Will Organize Canada for War and Industrial Purposes

Ottawa, Sept. 18.—Announcement was made by the government to-day that Sir Thomas Tait has accepted the position of director general of national services.

Sir Thomas has undertaken to mobilize the Dominion for war and industrial purposes, a position which will demand great executive ability. The record of Sir Thomas during many years of service with the C. P. R. and as head of a state system of railways in Australia, it is believed, has demonstrated his possession of that ability.

Sir Thomas has been at the head of a recruiting organization among the English-speaking population of Quebec. This organization has enlisted 18,000 men from a population of 37,000.

It is altogether likely that the provision of the recent order in council will be extended somewhat with the object of putting into the fighting line the maximum number of men consistent with preserving the agricultural, industrial and commercial stability of Canada.

LT. RAYMOND ASQUITH KILLED IN ACTION

Eldest Son of Prime Minister Gave Life for Empire

London, Sept. 18.—The family of Rt. Hon. H. H. Asquith has been added to the long list of most of the well known families of the United Kingdom which have lost one or more members in the fight for liberty and right.

Raymond Asquith, eldest son of the prime minister and Mrs. Asquith, has been killed in action. It is announced, Lieut. Asquith, who was in his 38th year, was a graduate of Oxford, president of the Oxford Union and prominent as a member of the bar, to which he was admitted in 1904. He acted as junior counsel for Great Britain in the North Atlantic fisheries arbitration at The Hague in 1907. He was made a second lieutenant in the County of London Regiment in 1914, and lieutenant of the Grenadier Guards in 1915.

Two brothers, Lieut. Arthur Asquith, of the Royal Naval Reserve, and Lieut. Herbert Asquith, were wounded in action at the Dardanelles in June, 1915.

STEEL LAND SHIPS STRANGE MACHINES

London, Sept. 18.—The credit for creating the new "traveling land forts" which have been used for the past few days on the British front north of the Somme, belongs to two men, Lieut. Col. Ed. Swinton, of the Intelligence department of the general staff, and Major Stern. Lieut. Col. Swinton was one of the official "eyewitnesses" who wrote accounts of the early days around Ypres for British newspapers. Major Stern is a business man who for some time has been in the employ of the government.

The Daily Mail describes the new monsters as follows:

"These long, low, dust-colored torpedoes have no resemblance to motor cars. They are, in fact, steel land ships of immense power and wonderful capacity. In practice they can climb walls, push through dense woods, cross trenches and manœuvre in and out of craters. One of the most remarkable facts about them is the secrecy with which the making of their thousands of parts was veiled in the Midland town of their birth."

"The army likes them, but it is not placing too much reliance upon them. For the present they are only an experiment."

UNCONFIRMED REPORT OF ITALIAN VICTORY

London, Sept. 18.—Italian forces have broken through the third Austrian line in the Montefalco sector and are pressing on to Trieste in fierce engagements, according to an Exchange Telegraph dispatch received here to-day.

NO DAMAGE.

London, Sept. 18.—With reference to the German admiralty report on the attack of German naval aircraft on war vessels off the Flanders coast, the British admiralty to-day stated that no British ships were hit or damaged.

Berlin, Sept. 18.—Hostile craft off the Flanders coast were successfully bombarded yesterday by the German hydro-aeroplanes, the admiralty announced in a statement to-day, which says:

"German naval aeroplanes freely bombarded hostile naval forces off the Flanders coast on Sept. 17. On a vessel used as a starting point for hydro-aeroplanes unmistakable hits were observed."

"Our anti-aircraft fire drove back a hostile aircraft, who was forced to land on Dutch territory."

She: "And what do you do, General, when the enemy is close to you and as thick as peas in a pod?" General: "We shoot them, my dear."

HON. WALTER SCOTT, PREMIER OF SASK., IS CRITICALLY ILL

Regina, Sept. 17.—Hon. Walter Scott, premier of Saskatchewan, is believed to be dying. For a week past he has been critically ill with acute attacks of asthma, which confined him to bed, and he is not allowed to receive visitors. He has been affected with asthma for years.

TOWN OF FLORINA OCCUPIED TO-DAY BY ENTENTE FORCES

Paris, Sept. 18.—Florina, an important town in northwestern Macedonia, was carried by assault by French troops to-day, according to an official statement issued here to-night.

The Bulgarians are retiring in disorder in the direction of Monastir, the statement adds.

Serbian troops also have gained successes in the region of Lake Skutsko.

KELVINA WAS SUNK WITHOUT WARNING

German Submarine Torpedoed British S. S. Which Had 28 Americans Aboard

New York, Sept. 18.—A torpedo sank the British steamship Kelvina, carrying 28 Americans, according to G. W. Dillard, of Richmond, Va., one of the Americans aboard, who arrived here to-day on the Cunard liner Tuscania.

Dispatches from England left in doubt whether the Kelvina, bound from Newport News to Glasgow, had been torpedoed or sunk by a mine on September 2.

Agents of the department state they met the Tuscania upon her arrival and took the depositions of the Americans. According to Dillard, the Kelvina was torpedoed at 2 o'clock in the morning without any warning having been given. The vessel listed immediately, and as there were not enough boats for the cargo of horses, many of the Americans put on life-belts and jumped overboard. They were rescued by a trawler after floating about for fourteen hours.

Dillard said that at the time the Kelvina met with the mishap he saw nearby a small light, which later seemed to disappear under the waves. This, he declared, confirmed his belief that there had been a submarine attack.

BANKS OF CANADA OFFER $50,000,000 FOR THE NEW LOAN

Ottawa, Sept. 18.—The Canadian banks have jointly subscribed $50,000,000 of the Canadian war loan. The banks will be allowed to purchase the bonds only after the general public has been satisfied, and the subscriptions are coming in so rapidly that it is likely they will get only a small part of the $50,000,000 subscribed.

B. C. TROOPS OVERSEAS VOTE FOR PROHIBITION

Winnipeg, Sept. 18.—A cable message received to-day from W. D. Bayley, of Winnipeg, who was sent to England to take British Columbia soldiers' votes, says: "No mishaps. Prohibition wins easily. Returned from France and Belgium."

Mr. Bayley made a number of addresses during the campaign in British Columbia favoring prohibition.

CASUALTIES AMONG BRITISH OFFICERS

London, Sept. 18.—The officers' casualty lists for the last fortnight of August give the names of 605 officers killed, 1,395 wounded and 93 missing, a total of 2,093. This brings the losses of officers in the British army since the commencement of hostilities to 41,014, of whom 12,045 have been killed or died of wounds, 26,076 wounded and 2,933 missing.

During the fortnight Brig.-Gen. Potter was wounded, Brig.-Gen. Buckle killed and five lieutenant-colonels killed.

ITALIANS DRIVING WITH GREAT FORCE

Enemy Correspondent Compares Attacks With Great Ones in West, East

Amsterdam, Sept. 18.—A telegram printed by the Cologne Gazette to-day says the Italian attacks against the Austro-Hungarian positions near Gorizia, on the plateau of Komber, which have been proceeding for two days, are not to be compared with any battles, however bloody, of the Italian campaign up to the present, but only with the great fighting in the west or during the last Russian offensive.

The correspondent says the Italians are adopting the tactics employed by General Brusilov, and adds that the Austro-Hungarians are subject on the short front from between the Wipbach and the sea to continuous assaults by thick infantry masses.

URGE INDUSTRIAL CENSUS IN CANADA

Crothers and Rogers Make Suggestion to Cabinet Regarding War Plans

Ottawa, Sept. 18.—Following a conference between representatives of firms engaged in the manufacture of war materials, members of the Munitions Board and members of the government two weeks ago, a memo to the cabinet council has been submitted by Hon. Messrs. Crothers and Rogers embodying certain recommendations, understood to include a suggestion that a registration system should be inaugurated and an industrial census made in order to classify the various classes of labor with a view to conserving essential industries and at the same time releasing for active service all those who can be spared.

PROHIBITION IN TORONTO.

Toronto, Ont., Sept. 18.—Seventy-six charged with drunkenness appeared in the police court to-day, and as the police could not swear 60 of them were drunk before 7 o'clock, the 60 were allowed to go. The other 16 became intoxicated after the bars closed, bringing them under the new act, and they were fined $10 and costs.

2,450 MEN OF B. C. AT FRONT VOTED

All Told 7,600 Voted on Other Side of the Atlantic

London, Sept. 18.—The polling of the British Columbia soldiers at the front in connection with British Columbia provincial general election was completed on Friday, when the votes recorded were brought to London for counting. W. D. Bayley, prohibitionist, and James Anderson, anti-prohibitionist, accompanied the official party to France to act as scrutineers.

"Altogether," said Mr. Walsh, representing the agent-general, "we got 2,450 votes. These were got over a very wide area, in fact wherever British Columbians could be found."

On this side of the Atlantic 7,600 votes have been recorded.

TO-DAY'S TRADING ON THE WINNIPEG MARKET

Winnipeg, Sept. 18.—Wheat closed 1 cent higher for October, 1 higher for November, 1 1/2 higher for December and 1 1/2 up for May; oats, 1 lower for October and 1 down for December; barley, 1 lower, and fax 1/4 lower for October, 3/4 lower for November and 1/4 lower for December. Lack of important features in the world's news made the trade very dull and the market one of the quietest of the season. Prices scarcely moved quickly enough for a scalping trade and spreads also were discouraged. Hedging sales in the morning were taken up by some outside buying orders which may have been for export. The local men did little or nothing in either the cash or future market. The increase in the visible was against any rally which would have been natural. Wheat struck the high points at the opening and worked lower during the day. The cash trade was small. No. 1 Northern sold at 6 cents over, but No. 2 was not so good. Oats was in good demand.

PRESS OPINIONS ON RESULT

The trend of press opinions on the result of Thursday's polling in British Columbia is very generally congratulatory to the province on having got rid of the government. The good name of the province has been for a long time clouded as a consequence of the actions and the policies of the McBride, and then of the Bowser administrations, so that even Conservative papers in the middle west and the east commented severely upon it.

McBride's Retirement.

The Edmonton Journal (Con.)—"The retirement of Sir Richard McBride to an exceedingly well paid post in London, to secure the vacation of which it was necessary to reimburse the former occupant, was a piece of poor politics which was sure to have a serious effect. It was a large factor in yesterday's result." The most powerful personal force in the campaign against the Bowser administration was Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper, who stated most emphatically that in taking the stand that he did, he was acting as a good Conservative.

The Ottawa Evening Journal (Con.)—"British Columbia, after 16 years of Conservative rule, has turned to the other party. Sixteen years is a long period in party politics. The party which in a six years tenure of office did not do a good deal unsatisfactory to the public, irritate more people than it pleased, and accumulate a lot of barnacles, would be a marvellous party. The only exception we know of to the general rule is Nova Scotia, where the provincial Liberal party has been periodically wiping the floor with its opponents for the last 32 years."

Liberal Comment.

The Manitoba Free Press, Winnipeg (Lib.)—"It has been the favorite argument of cynical arguers against democracy to point to administrations running a course of extravagance and fiscal debauchery—such as Manitoba and British Columbia have known to their heavy cost—and sustained in power by a popular majority again and again. The reply to this point is that the people of Manitoba and the people of British Columbia have done in driving out of office at least the men who had proved faithless to their duties and responsibilities. In this purging of the public life of the coast province, as in the purging of the public life in our own province, thousands of Conservatives have given proof of their fidelity to ideals of true Canadian citizenship by openly and vigorously supporting the Liberal candidates, because it was manifest to him, in the degradation to which unworthy leaders had brought their own party's name, that there was no other way to set their province's house in order."

The Morning Leader, Regina (Lib.)—"Aside from any and all local conditions which may have tended to bring about these results, it is becoming increasingly evident that the people of Canada are turning more and more to an acceptance of Liberal principles and policy. It may be that the war—which is, in the last analysis, a war between the common people and an autocratic military class—is having its effect in turning the people more pronouncedly to true democratic principles. This is evidenced by the decisive results in favor of prohibition and the enfranchisement of women and is likewise shown in the turning of the people away from Conservatism to Liberalism."

The Evening Free Press, Ottawa (Lib.)—"Encouraged by the seeming indifference of the public, the Bowser organization in British Columbia became too daring in recent years. Its operations were barefaced and crude. And, while the public will evidently stand for a lot of looting if the looting is done smoothly, it will rise up in indignation when second storey methods are used. The Roblin government in Manitoba made the mistake of forgetting this fact. It was the crudeness of the parliamentary buildings graft more than the actual theft of the money that aroused the indignation of the people. In British Columbia patronage and corruption had been the rule for so long that Bowser and his assistants apparently thought it unnecessary to hide their work."

The Saskatoon Phoenix (Lib.)—"The Pacific province swings into line with Nova Scotia, Quebec, Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta. Only in New Brunswick and Ontario have the Conservatives any foothold in Canada. New Brunswick will almost certainly go Liberal if present indications are to be trusted, and Ontario will remain as the only Tory stronghold in Canada. In the three by-elections recently held in that province, the Liberals have won, so that Ontario can no longer be counted safe for them. And the next overturn will be in the Dominion elections. Bring them on."

Provincial Opinion.

The British Columbian, New Westminster (Con.)—"The election in general lays upon the government of the day the cause for bad times. And there is nothing more certain than that right or wrong, and we sincerely believe wrongly, the Conservative administration of Hon. W. J. Bowser has been judged as responsible for economic conditions over which it could have no control. The land settlement situation is a cause in point. So also the business depression following upon the outbreak of the war."

The Nanaimo Herald (Con.)—"Locally Nanaimo will, for the first time in many years, have a government representative. Mr. William Sloan, the newly elected member, is one of the recognized chiefs of the Liberal party. It is certain that he will be given a cabinet position, and report has it that it will be the portfolio of mines. The people of Nanaimo can therefore look to have its interests cared for and looked after in a way they have never known before. They have shown in the most decisive manner what they think of Mr. Sloan. He is the first Liberal to be elected for Nanaimo to the provincial House, and his majority is one of the largest, if not the largest, ever polled in the city. No stronger proof could be given of his popular standing with the people of Nanaimo, and of their belief in his political ability. Mr. Sloan will thoroughly appreciate this testimony to the confidence the people of Nanaimo have in him, and it will be an additional incentive for him to leave nothing undone or untried in his representation of Nanaimo. It may safely be taken for granted that the interests of the city will be perfectly safe in his hands."

The Kamloops Telegraph (Lib.)—"The modern car of Juggermatt has run its course down through the long days of 12 years. For several months its steering gear has shown unmistakable signs of a pending clog. The ponderous vehicle struggled along until yesterday when the boulders of public opinion barred its way and further progress was denied it. Every part of its intricate mechanism creaked and cracked and jolted until each vital spot in the structure was smitten by the factors that had grown weary of its cumbersome. The whole fabric of the machine was relegated to the scrap heap in a few short hours. The Bowser government is dead. The Brewster government lives."

The Kamloops Standard (Con.)—"In a great many of the other constituencies the majorities are so small that there is every likelihood of a reversal of the outcome when the military ballots are counted. However, as far as it is possible to be certain at the present time, there is little doubt but that the Liberals will have the pleasure of forming a government under the leadership of Mr. Brewster. There is no necessity for the Conservatives to explain the crushing defeat they have sustained. It was in the air. Conditions are not normal; men's minds and ideas are in a peculiar state; there is a demand for a change that would not be denied, and the people, however much in the future they may regret having placed the affairs of the province in the hands of Mr. Brewster and his following, certainly decided strong enough in favor of giving the untried men an opportunity to prove their mettle."

On the Prairies.

The Moose Jaw Daily News (Con.)—"The decisive defeat of the Bowser government in British Columbia is one of the significant signs of the times. It shows that just now the credit of all governments stands on slippery ground and that none, against whom the finger of public suspicion is directed, have much chance of being sustained at the polls. In these days the only sure defence of a government is a clean record. Not the clever but the honest political leader has the best chance of surviving. In this time of trial the people demand character in public

AT ALL STAGES OF LIFE

The Woman's Medicine. Good for All Ages. Mrs. Harold Smith's Experience.

Clarksburg, W. Va.—"I am writing to tell you the good your medicine has always done me and I hope my letter may be the means of helping some other suffering woman. When I was 16 years old I caught cold and had suppression for two months. I got so weak I could scarcely drag myself up the stairs. I went to two doctors, then my mother got a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I took it. I never had any more trouble and got strong fast. Then I took it again before my little girl was born and it helped me a good deal and I give the Compound the credit for it. Then this spring I felt very badly again, but I took the Compound and have been well all summer. I cannot be grateful enough for your medicine."—Mrs. HAROLD M. SMITH, 470 Water Street, Clarksburg, W. Va.

men as they never demanded it before. For the clean-skater, the double-dealer and the all-things-to-all-men type they have little use."

The Morning Albertan, Calgary (Lib.)—"It was a straight, plain case of revolt of the common people against the rule of a faithless, inefficient ultra-partisan, machine administration. Issues played no part in the contest. The government, at the dying hour, had passed legislation of the most valuable and progressive nature. But the people once betrayed, could not be deceived again. It was not so much a strife of parties. The people came to the conclusion that their administrators had betrayed the province and nothing could stop the drive of the electors. The result, indicating an independence of mind on the part of the electors, was very encouraging."

The Saskatoon Star (Con.)—"With the withdrawal of Sir Richard McBride from the active participation of political affairs in the province with which he had so long been associated, came the beginning of the end for the Conservative party in British Columbia. Hon. W. J. Bowser, who succeeded him, has never held the same position in the affections of the people that Sir Richard was able to control. British Columbia has given expression to the view, so often expressed in Canadian politics, that a government too long in power grows reckless of expenditure of public funds and extravagant in its programme."

Will of the People.

The Nelson News (Con.), a paper which has been conducting a particularly virulent and mendacious campaign, both in its news and editorial columns, suddenly dropped to fifty lines of editorial matter on Friday morning. The meekness of the tone indicates that the News is hard hit by the result. Even the local victory of Dr. Rose cannot inspire it to any enthusiasm. Under the caption, "The people express their will," the News says:

"The will of the people appears to have been expressed in no uncertain fashion at yesterday's election. The electors of British Columbia decided that the time had come for a change of government. With that decision there is no quarrel. The people's will governs. Upon the majorities shown by the final votes in a number of ridings will depend the strength of the two parties in the legislature. Small majorities may be wiped out by the soldiers' vote which at the present time is very much of an unknown quantity. It is certain that there will be substantial opposition in the legislature."

Quality—The All-Important Point in Dentistry

To have complete dental satisfaction is not so much the matter of "so many dollars per tooth" as it is of "the man and his methods."

"Modern methods of dentistry, such as I practice, offer the maximum of quality at a minimum cost. By the use of my own system, Mouthesia, there is a total absence of pain in every operation I perform. My laboratory is the largest and most completely equipped of its kind in Victoria, and the assistants I employ are men of skill and many years' experience in their profession."

In your search for high-grade dentistry take into consideration the qualifications set forth above, and your own sense of discrimination will prompt you to telephone and arrange an interview. An interview and examination of your teeth that will place you under no obligation whatever.

LORD SHAUGHNESSY WEEK-END VISITOR

Influential Party of C. P. R. Directors is on Inspection Tour

SOCIAL ENGAGEMENTS OCCUPIED YESTERDAY

Post-War Problems Are Subjects of Advice by President

Social engagements and renewals of acquaintances with old Victoria friends occupied the attention of the C. P. R. presidential party on its arrival here yesterday morning.

In fact Lord Shaughnessy made it clear to the Times representative that the charms of a week-end in Victoria had been the main reason for the itinerary being so determined to bring them to Victoria on a Sunday, and not any claims of business in particular.

The morning was spent at the Saanich observatory as the guest of Capt. J. W. Troup, who had met them at Vancouver, and with R. Marpole, general executive assistant, conducted the party here. In the afternoon a visit was paid to Hatley park, Hon. James Dunsmuir having sent cars to convey the visitors to Colwood. Both at Saanich hill, and in the beautiful estate of the former lieutenant governor the members were delighted with their reception. The veteran of the party, R. B. Angus, was most heartily greeted, carrying his years with surprising vigor. The first to meet him after breakfast being relative resident here.

While Grant Hall and F. L. Hutchinson, manager of the C. P. R. hotel

service, are well known here, Victorians had an opportunity of being better acquainted with the able general counsel, E. W. Beatty, K. C., who is seldom in the west. W. D. Matthews and A. M. Nanton are familiar figures in the hotel lobbies, apart from their C. P. R. directorates, while it is unnecessary to emphasize the cordial welcome accorded to Sir Edmund H. Ogler, and Sir Herbert S. Holt, national figures in the realm of finance and politics. Mr. Hutchinson has already left for Lake Louise, and the party follows on the Princess Adelaide today.

The directors had the first opportunity of meeting Manager A. Benaglia in his new position as head of the Empress hotel here, and expressed satisfaction at the arrangements made for their comfort.

While in Vancouver on Saturday, it was explained to the Times representative the party met Representative Albert Johnson, whose position as Republican member of the House committee on territories, has required him to pay a visit to Alaska. The object of the meeting was to hear the plans of the railway for Pacific ocean trade after the war, which were unfolded at the Vancouver board of trade meeting.

Lord Shaughnessy on this occasion made the first official trip over the Kettle Valley railway to Vancouver, which gives access to the southern interior in a much shorter time than formerly possible.

Immigration Wanted.

A large immigration for Canada when the war has ceased was the question that would have to be taken into serious consideration by the government and the big interests in the Dominion, according to Lord Shaughnessy. "The decks should be cleared for action at once," he went on. "No matter how long the fighting is to continue, Canada will render just the same assistance in men and money that she has been giving."

Conditions that will prevail after the war are what must be strictly attended to in the opinion of Lord Shaughnessy. Canada must have the people, and must get them in large numbers. In those countries that have been disturbed by the war there will be heavy emigration, and it will be to a country like Canada that these people will come. He expressed the opinion that the government and other agencies should formulate some rational system to get as many immigrants as possible to come here.

Questioned as to the yield this year on the prairies, he said that they figured it out at about 170,000,000, and there would be no reason to complain on the part of the farmers. His lordship was highly optimistic for the future. The people of the West had learned the lesson not to be over-speculative, and their experience would be invaluable to them.

C.P.R. as Partner.

Lord Shaughnessy requested publicity to his speech to the Vancouver Board of Trade as being the opinion of the president on the present day financial conditions of Vancouver and Victoria. In the course of this speech he said:

"I think that you will admit whatever little differences we may have had from time to time that during all those years your working partner, the C.P.R., has neither been niggardly nor narrow. I think, too, that if our friends and neighbors across the gulf in the older city of Victoria, where at present business is not as brisk as it might be, a situation that we are experiencing in many localities on the continent, but I think that Victoria, which has made such marked progress and has been so exceedingly prosperous in recent years, will also bear testimony to the earnestness with which your partner assisted in forwarding all their good works."

"The policy of the company in Victoria and at other points served by the company's lines has been one of creation and improvement. Sometimes probably we have overshot the mark and have anticipated the future, but we did that with an implicit confidence, and there was only a little while to wait when everything would grow to what we had been providing for in Vancouver as elsewhere. The last three or four years have been years of depression in business, not in Vancouver alone, but throughout the country. Probably this may be attributed to a degree of over-confidence and no doubt to some extent to over-speculation, but we have all learned a lesson."

Large Expenditures.

Lord Shaughnessy said that there was evidence on which his banking friend would bear him out, of decided improvement in trade conditions on the Pacific coast. The lumber industry beyond doubt is more brisk than it has been for a considerable time, the mining is in a very prosperous condition indeed. The works that the company has performed in Vancouver and its environments involved a vast expenditure of money. It is true that we had a substantial return for the property of the company at the time. Vancouver was established, but every dollar received from that townsite and many millions more have been expended within the boundaries of the city.

"This is not the time to undertake many improvements, not a time indeed to take anything in hand or to say anything in the nature of promises of important works, but it is clear to me that for the future requirements of the port it will be necessary to spend a very large sum of money in providing additional jetty for which steps have already been taken. The port in its present stage of development would be a matter of surprise to almost any person of Vancouver. When the first Empress came here in 1890 we hoped to secure traffic enough to feed these three Empresses on the eastbound voyage. To-day we have tonnage beyond the facilities that have been provided at a cost of millions of dollars and we can see that we have in the future a very substantial increase in that tonnage. The Oriental traffic, which was divided with a number of lines in which our enemy made a great inroad can be in a substantial degree diverted to us and arrangements have been made with the Russian authorities that will ensure a very large increase in the tonnage for Vladivostok passing through the Pacific ports."

The Future Policy.

"We must try to determine," said Lord Shaughnessy, "what our policy is going to be in the future. I speak for the policy of all of us who are interested in the welfare and progress of the Dominion. At the moment we have one working thing that supercedes all other. The war must be prosecuted to a successful conclusion at all hazards. Nothing that is not either directly or indirectly connected with the successful prosecution of the war should occupy more than a secondary place in our thoughts. The war will not last forever."

"Indeed there are those of us who think that the end is not far off. But whether it be this year or next year or the year after we must be prepared to take advantage of such opportunities as may offer. Canada has made tremendous sacrifices in money and men, giving a direct demonstration of Canada's patriotic loyalty to the Mother Country and the empire. The fact that we have taken such a strong position that we have done so much to help has won for us the sympathy beyond doubt of Great Britain and of Britain's allies and to the extent that those nations can be of service in forwarding large industrial and commercial and agricultural interests and that we can count on their co-operation."

"But I do not like the idea of depending too much on the goodwill of others. We must endeavor to do the right thing ourselves. It is quite useless, to my mind, to imagine that because of the animosities arising from the war that the Germans and Austrians are to be shut out from all civilized countries of the world, compelled to confine their trade relations

Treble Population.

"About the future we have no doubt whatever. If we continue as we are, conserving our resources, avoiding unnecessary expenditure until we can afford it better, if we conclude that our success is going to be dependent entirely on our own efforts and that any assistance we get from other causes must be considered extraneous and not essential, if we make up our minds that we are going to be equal to any country in the world, that our ability to do things there is no question, there will be no doubt as to the position of Canada in the future. I have not a doubt that there are in this room many young men who will see this country with a population trebled at least, and even larger figures might not be excessive if we perform our duty as I have remarked."

She—"People say that you only married me because I had money." He—"Nonsense! My principal reason for marrying you was because I had none."
